

SEPARATE AIR FORCE ASKED BY NAVAL FLYERS

Existing Policies and System Disapproved. Dissatisfaction of Aviators Ample Presented.

MITCHELL'S VIEWS ARE TOO ADVANCED

Creation of Unified Air Force Under Cabinet Officer Declared Too Radical a Step.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

United States Staff Correspondent. Washington, October 1.—(AP)—Heedless of alleged efforts to "muzzle" them, naval aviators have joined their flying comrades of the army in charging before President Coolidge's aircraft board that the government's air policy requires drastic revision.

Flying officers of the sea defense, who testified Thursday in the wake of such advocates of independent air service as Colonel William Mitchell and General Mason Patrick, were emphatic in their assertions that naval aviators, without exception, favored separate air force.

Frankly and without the hesitation and indecision which marked testimony, notably of Admiral William A. Moffett, head of the naval air service, in the presence of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, witnesses combined in declaring that unless the air force is trained, operated and controlled by experienced aviators, the navy will meet disaster in the next emergency it faces. They as frankly gave the board the grievances of naval aviators and the remedies.

Knew of Muzzling.

It remained for Lieutenant Commander R. R. Pannack, chief of the flight division of the bureau of aeronautics, and Lieutenant Commander H. T. Bartlett, of the naval war college, to tell the board that they knew of naval aviators who had expressed an unwillingness to give their opinions to the inquiry board.

They, however, neither made public the names of the officers alleged to have been "muzzled," nor the sources from which a hint had come that reticence was desirable.

Through the day's testimony and examination the witnesses, all naval flying men, informed the board that the men in the air service advocate a separate air corps and disapprove the existing policies and system.

Causes of Dissatisfaction.

Dissatisfactions existing among the aviators were amply presented. Invariably they were summarized as hindering upon present methods of control and operation, lack of sympathy for the value of aviation, command by non-flying officers, assignment of officers without regard to rank, and the navy department's action on aviation matters without reference to the bureau of aeronautics.

"It is only recently that the navy department has appreciated the need for a change in the air service system," said Commander H. C. Richardson, 28 years in the navy, pilot of the NC-3 on its famous trans-Atlantic flight.

PALMER IS SHORN OF ALL HIS POWER

Shipping Board Resumes Exclusive Control of Fleet Corporation by 4-To-0 Vote.

Washington, October 1.—(AP)—The shipping board resumed full and exclusive control over the fleet corporation today after a period of two years, during which, at the request of President Coolidge, it had delegated board administrative powers to the operating agency. It refrained, however, from asking for the resignation of President Palmer, of the corporation, and some of the commissioners opposed to his administration indicated that no step in this direction would be taken for some time, at least.

The move was denied as having any connection with the appointment by the president yesterday of H. G. Dalton, of Cleveland, to inquire into the entire shipping controversy.

No comment was made, however, on behalf of Mr. Coolidge, and Mr. Palmer said he had not been officially notified by the board and would not comment at this time.

Daughter Defends Father for Murder Of Her Sweetheart

Letter of Dead Lover, Telling of Relations With Girl Over Four Years, Read To Jury.

GIRL IS COMPOSED WHILE UPON STAND

Plea of Self-Defense and "Transitory Insanity" Will Be Made for Wealthy Carolinian.

Richmond County Court House, N. C., October 1.—(AP)—Elizabeth Cole today took the witness stand in defense of her father, W. B. Cole, wealthy cotton manufacturer, who last August 15 shot and killed W. W. Ormond, former sweetheart of the young woman.

Attorneys for Mr. Cole, who is on trial here for murder, have set up pleas of self-defense and transitory insanity.

A crowded court room listened intently to the young woman as she recounted circumstances leading up to the killing.

Miss Cole was the second defense witness. She began her testimony shortly after Judge T. B. Finley had ruled that the defense plea of "transitory insanity" would not be allowed, but that evidence purporting to show the state of mind of the defendant at the time of the shooting could be introduced.

Notable improvements were begun or are in contemplation in Columbus where prospective items of construction are expected to involve several million dollars. Among them is a new high school representing an investment of $400,000 and a new stadium costing $80,000. The citizens of Muscogee county will vote on the $1,650,000 road bond issue October 31.

Augusta Booming.

The conservative city of Augusta began the month with a full-fledged real estate boom already under way. During the last two weeks of September property valued at approximately $1,500,000 changed hands.

Announcement was made in August Thursday that J. Perry Stoltz, owner of the Elsetwood hotels, would erect a $2,000,000 hotel within two miles of the city limits. Construction will begin January 1 next.

Building permits for the first nine months of the year aggregated $1,212,475 in Albany, said to be a decided advance over the sum total for the same months of last year.

With the sale of 200 front feet of property on a leading street of Valdosta at an unusually high figure, real estate men of that city pronounced the transaction ample evidence of rising real estate values.

Important business property has recently been sold in Atlanta, Savannah, Macon and Columbus, while the smaller cities of the state have reported transactions of relative importance in local real estate circles.

The volume of retail trade in the sixth federal reserve district was 3.9 per cent greater for August of this year as compared with August last year and increased sales were reported by all of the nine lines of wholesale trade from which reports are received, according to the monthly business review made public Thursday.

The retail trade increase was based on reports received by the district headquarters from 48 department stores.

The report says "favorable comparisons with the corresponding period last year are shown by nearly all of the series of business statistics compiled or gathered for the monthly business review."

"For the fourth consecutive month

MOORISH CAPITAL REPORTED ON FIRE

Headquarters of Abd-El-Krim, Rifian Leader, Also in Flames, Spanish Declare.

Madrid, October 1.—(AP)—Ajdir, Abd-El-Krim's capital in Spanish Morocco, a few miles from Alhucenas Bay, is in flames, but whether set afire by the much-hated Rifians themselves or by shells from the Spanish guns, is not known here.

General Primo de Rivera, aboard the dreadnaught Alfonso XIII, lying off the Alhucenas coast, sent by radio the fact that Ajdir was burning. It was against this stronghold that Spanish advance in the past few days has been directed.

In his message, Primo de Rivera tells of the Spanish troops reaching the Maekren Heights without resistance by the Moors and few casualties. Of the fate of Ajdir he says: "Ajdir is afire, including Abd-El-Krim's headquarters. The conflagration, viewed from our new positions, presents a strange spectacle."

ENGINE ROOM OF S-51 FOUND FULL OF WATER

Hope Completely Disappears for Lives of Crew After Diver Bores Hole In Hatch of Boat.

FOUR WERE SWEEPED OFF DECK OF SUB

Two Huge Derricks Unable To Lift S-51 From Grave in 138 Feet of Water Off Coast.

On Board U. S. S. Camden, Off Block Island, October 1.—(By Wire-Press to The Associated Press.)—Hope that any members of the crew of the S-51 might be found alive in the engine room compartment of the submarine disappeared tonight when an exploring hole, the diameter of a pencil, was bored through the hatch and revealed that the compartment was flooded with water.

The motor compartment will be explored tomorrow for any indications that members of the crew may have taken refuge there. It was not determined whether any bodies were in the engine room.

Discovery that the engine compartment was flooded was made by Harry Reinhardt, a diver, who cut the hole in the hatch. He reported that only a few bubbles of air were emitted and that further investigation showed the section of the ship filled with water. It took seven minutes to cut the hole with the aid of an oxy-acetylene torch.

The condition of the motor compartment, adjoining the engine room, is still uncertain and divers will repeat tonight's process of drilling an exploring hole there tomorrow if weather conditions permit.

The Monarch and Century, according to official messages from Rear Admiral Christy, failed in their attempt to lift the S-51 today. The full lifting strength of the two giant cranes was applied but the submarine apparently did not budge.

FOUR SWEEPED TO DEATH FROM DECK OF S-51.

Boston, October 1.—(AP)—At least four men, including Lieutenant Rodney H. Dolson, commander of the S-51, were swept to death from the bridge of the submarine when it was sunk in a collision with the steamer City of Rome off Block Island last Friday night.

This was brought out in testimony today by two of three survivors, Alfred Geier, of Newfoundland, and Michael S. Lira, of St. Louis.

Geier and Lira were summoned before the local board of inspectors of the United States steamboat inspection service in the course of an investigation to determine responsibility for the disaster. Neither man saw the submarine's running lights in that brief minute they remained on the bridge before she sank.

Lights In Good Condition. They testified that as far as they knew, both the steering gear and the lights of the submarine were in good order on the night of the collision. Lira criticized the failure of the City of Rome to throw a line to the submarine in answer to the plea of the commander. Other than this, both declared they had no criticism to make.

I. C. C. MEMBERSHIP ASKED FOR SOUTH

Oscar Wells, of Birmingham, Installed as President of American Bankers' Association.

Atlantic City, N. J., October 1.—Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, speaking before the state bank division of the Interbankers' association today, declared that if "we wish a complete and satisfactory solution" of the railroad consolidation problem, a permanent basis established that will take the railroads out of politics, "fair and just representation must be given on the interstate commerce commission to that territory that stands unrepresented today."

"I have no criticism against the character, attainments or honesty of the members of the commission," he said, "but all men's environment to a greater or lesser extent affects their judgment. Since organization of the commission in 1887, the south and west, viewed either from the standpoint of territory, population or production, have been deprived of equal and just representation."

Oscar Wells, of Birmingham, Ala., the incoming president, and other new members were introduced.

TRUCE IS REACHED AS FRENCH AGREE TO PAY $40,000,000 ANNUALLY FOR NEXT 5 YEARS

$50,000 IN LOOT FROM U. S. MAILED RECOVERED HERE

Negress Arrested When Sealed Package of Bonds Are Found—Denies Knowledge of Robbery.

WOMAN BELIEVED FIGURE IN 'FENCE'

Federal Agents Comb Country for Gems and Other Valuables Taken In Daring Ohio Haul.

Atlanta was linked with an alleged gigantic mail theft syndicate operating in Toledo, Ohio, when postal authorities here Thursday recovered approximately $50,000 in loot said to have been obtained in recent robberies.

The loot, consisting of a quantity of postage stamps and paving bonds, was seized in the home of Mary I. Elsherry, negress, at 379 West Fair street, and the woman was arrested and her case assigned for preliminary hearing on October 9.

While the total amount involved in the Toledo robbery was not disclosed, it was understood that bonds recovered here represent only a fraction of the loss occasioned by operations of the Toledo syndicate. Diamond rings valued at many thousands of dollars and many other valuable packages are said to have been included in the haul of the Toledo thieves.

Will Grill Negress.

Atlanta authorities immediately communicated their find to Toledo postal officials, and the Elsherry woman will be grilled to determine what connection exists between her and the Toledo robbers. The negress is held as an accomplice and officers believe she served as a "fence" to the Toledo operators.

Postal Inspector Thomas M. Milligan signed the bill of complaint on which the woman was held. He claimed he found a package in the negress' home containing forty-nine $1,000 street paving bonds, issued by the city of Wadesboro, N. C., and stamps valued at $732.84.

Package Found Sealed.

The bonds and the stamps were the property of Spitzer, Rorick & Company of New York city and are said to have been taken from the mails at Toledo.

When the package was found after officers searched the woman's home at 379 West Fair street, it was found unbroken, officers said. She claimed it had been sent to her by a Toledo man, whose name department officials declined to divulge since he has not yet been apprehended. She declared she was merely keeping the package and did not know what it contained.

Secretary Mellon Publishes Correspondence With French

ANALYZES FRENCH AND AMERICAN OFFERS.

Washington, October 1.—(AP)—The following statements, exchanged between the American and French debt missions, were made public tonight at the treasury:

Under date of September 28, replying to the second French offer, Secretary Mellon said: "We have had the privilege of considering your statement of this morning. We understand this to be a reaffirmation of your proposal to us of the 24th instant, that is, that you should pay $25,000,000 annually for the first five years, $30,000,000 annually for the following five years, $40,000,000 annually for the following ten years, and $50,000,000 annually for the last 42 years, this sum completely to extinguish the indebtedness. We have stated the reasons why this sum in our opinion is inadequate."

"It seems to us that you consider the above proposed annuities are an application of your indebtedness to us of the principles discussed between France and England as applicable to the war debt of France to England. But we wish to point out that an examination of the existing settlements and tentative agreement between France and England discloses an entire difference. We find that the principles of these arrangements, if applied to the debt of the United States, would imply a larger obligation upon the part of France to the United States than that contained in our proposal below. For instance, in its treatment with England, France has considered its indebtedness for surplus war stocks and the indebtedness from the Bank of France to the Bank of England for exchange purposes as ordinary commercial

CAILLAUX WILLING TO SUBMIT OFFER FOR RATIFICATION

Negotiations To Be Resumed To Fund Entire Debt at Conclusion of Temporary Agreement.

LAST FRENCH OFFER REJECTED BY U. S.

Both Sides Disappointed That No Conclusive Agreement in Parleys.

Washington, October 1.—(AP)—The frail formula of a tentative arrangement, which must be ratified by the French government, today was thrust into the breach to prevent complete collapse of the Franco-American debt funding negotiations.

Thus, one week after finance Minister Caillaux and his associates had laid down the first French proposal for funding their government's $41,000,000,000 war debt, they departed for Paris, taking with them a document intended only to fill the gap sufficiently to assure continuity of negotiations—even at long range.

The arrangement, proposed by the American debt commission as a final move to overcome what appeared to be insurmountable difficulties, would have France pay an annuity of $40,000,000 a year for five years, and would enable the two governments to continue consideration of a program of final settlement to succeed the proposed temporary pact at its expiration.

In Lieu of All Interest. Further, it concedes that the annuity thus paid shall be in lieu of all interest on the debt during the time it shall run—or an interest charge of approximately 1 per cent a year.

M. Caillaux gave American commissioners the hope that he believed the French government would accept the agreement. He declined to sign it as a plenipotentiary, inasmuch as he had been entrusted by his government, he said, to sign only a final settlement, and he questioned his own right to act on an arrangement of a provisional character.

"Consequently, being as desirous as you are not to interrupt the negotiations, which cannot fail to reach an agreement," Mr. Caillaux's last statement to the Americans said, "the minister of finance can do no more than submit to his colleagues of the French cabinet in Paris the propositions which you have made today, and he will do his utmost to give an answer as soon as possible."

It was after making that statement that M. Caillaux and his associates marched from the meeting and the end of the conversations had come. M. Caillaux was unhappy that a permanent arrangement was not reached. Secretary Mellon, too, was disappointed.

ATLANTA FORWARD WORKERS GATHER AT FEAST TONIGHT

Nearly 1,000 Expected To Attend To Hear Details of $250,000 Fund Plan Discussed.

Nearly 1,000 active workers in the Atlanta Forward Atlanta campaign to raise a $250,000 advertising fund are expected to meet tonight at the Hotel Ansley roof for the "let's go" dinner, it was announced Thursday at campaign headquarters.

"Every major, captain, lieutenant, team worker; every member of a committee, is invited and urged to attend this dinner," said William Chandler, general chairman. "It is highly important that they be present, for the details of the campaign will be discussed and every man will be told just what he is expected to do."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was stirred to a high pitch of enthusiasm over the $250,000 campaign by an address by Charles E. Watkins, of the American City bureau, who spoke on man-power and pride of accomplishment.

"The city of Atlanta has forged ahead because of its man-power," he said. "It has had many big men at its helm, men who loved the city and worked for it."

"But you can't expect these men to work always. They want to rest and go fishing. They're just waiting to shift the load to some younger shoulders. Are your shoulders strong enough to handle it? Make them that way. The city is yours, whenever you're ready to run it."

Announcement was made that Harry H. Johnson, vice president of the Atlanta Forward campaign, had been appointed treasurer of the Atlanta Forward campaign.

The $250,000 advertising fund will be kept entirely separate from the

VIADUCT NEEDS IN BOND PROJECT TO BE SURVEYED

Mayor Sims Expects To Have Quota of Bridges Determined by Middle of October.

Definite information concerning the city's portion of the cost of constructing new viaducts on Pryor street and Central avenue will be obtained by Mayor Walter A. Sims by the middle of October, and when this information is in hand steps will be taken to prepare the consolidated bond issue for submission to the people at the earliest possible moment, according to a statement made by the mayor Thursday.

"Surveys of the sewer situation have been in progress for more than a week and we hope also to get some early information as to the amount of money we will need to include in the bond issue for sewers," the mayor said. "I am certain that $1,500,000 will be a sufficient sum to provide for removal of sewage disposal plant on the Collier road to a point near the Chattahoochee river, and to provide trunk sewers needed to serve the upper basin of Peachtree creek."

Mayor Sims said he will be taking to throw every safeguard around the bond issue to protect the interests of all citizens and said the plan when ready would provide for appointment of a bond commission composed of representative men and women of Atlanta to superintend disbursement of funds.

Favors Museum Project. Discussing the proposal that an art museum be included in the bond issue, the mayor said he favored a small bond issue for this purpose.

"This is one of the needs of a greater Atlanta," he said. "The site for the museum has been selected in Piedmont park and the addition of this splendid enterprise to the city will mean much as a cultural future."

It is expected that the mayor will recommend $300,000 in bonds for the museum.

First official discussion of the proposed consolidated bond issue will

Atlantans Aid War Veterans In Drive Today

Sale of 'Forget-Me-Nots' Planned To Aid Maimed Veterans of World War.

Atlanta today will be asked to "do her bit" for the men who bravely marched away to war eight years ago and returned maimed of body and shattered of mind; men who have barked in a blaze of patriotic honor and returned to don muffi and settle quietly into their old places—so far as their harrowing experiences would allow.

Today is "Forget-Me-Not" day, when the city is asked to pause a moment and reflect upon the valiant accomplishments and the willing sacrifice of her heroes; to pause and contribute of her bounty to the splendid work the disabled war veterans are doing.

About 300 young women will take part in the annual sale of forget-me-nots to be conducted under the leadership of Mrs. Sam D. Jones, of the Service Star Legion.

A committee composed of Mrs. Irving S. Thomas, chairman; Mrs. Henry N. Nichols, Mrs. James K. Jordan, Mrs. Marcus Beck, Mrs. N. V. Farham, Mrs. J. S. Moore and others will supply flowers from headquarters in the Pryor street entrance of the Atlanta Lowry National bank to workers who will sell forget-me-nots on the street corners.

AUGUSTA TO GET $2,000,000 HOTEL

J. Perry Stoltz Announces Purchase of Land Upon Which Winter Resort Will Be Erected.

Augusta, Ga., October 1.—(AP)—Commodore J. Perry Stoltz announces that he had purchased 400 acres of land three miles from Augusta and would begin work on or before January 1, on the Fleetwood hotel at Augusta. He operates a Fleetwood hotel at Miami Beach and is constructing similar hotel at Hendersonville, N. C., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

He expects to expend $2,000,000 on the Augusta project and it will have 300 rooms and be built of concrete and steel. It will be a year-round hotel, catering to winter resort visitors during the winter and spring. An 18-hole golf course will be constructed.

The announcement of the erection of the Fleetwood follows the reconstruction of the Bon Air hotel which was burned here several years ago

Scenario Writer Gives Vivid Story in Support of Claim

ALABAMA WOMAN SAYS SHE WROTE "TEN COMMANDMENTS"

Testimony of Barrett C. Kiesling, personal representative of Cecil B. DeMille, director of "The Ten Commandments," produced the latter part of 1924 by the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, and depositions are expected to end the hearing today of the suit for royalties filed by Mrs. Mattie Thompson, of Eufaula, Ala., who claims she is author of the scenario of the famous film.

This testimony today follows appearance of Miss Jeanie McPherson, of Los Angeles, who declared on the witness stand Thursday that she and not Mrs. Thompson was author of the scenario of "The Ten Commandments."

Courthouse attaches and spectators Thursday were given a graphic description of just how a big picture is produced when Miss McPherson told of the filming of the mammoth production and of how she personally supervised details in conformity with the Biblical story.

Mrs. Thompson said she was the author of the plot and that she followed development of the thread of the story as Mr. DeMille directed its production, according to the story she wrote herself. She emphasized a statement that she had never seen Mrs. Thompson's version of "The Ten Commandments" until she was confronted with papers served as an outgrowth of the suit.

"My story was built around the Biblical story of the giving of the Ten Commandments and then a bit of modern life was woven into it to show that whoever breaks the divine laws is himself broken sooner or later," Miss McPherson said.

Mrs. Thompson has entered suit in equity in federal court of the northern district of Georgia charging that she sent a scenario to the Lasky corporation in 1919 "so similar to that on which is built the recent picture released by the company that she is entitled to royalties as author of the story." Judge Samuel H. Sibley is sitting in the case.

ALLEGED "BOOKIES" HIT IN NEW DRIVE AGAINST GAMBLING

J. E. McDonald, Charles E. Pierce and Joe Brondino were arrested Thursday afternoon by investigators from Solicitor General John Boykin's office on charges of operating a gambling house in connection with alleged bookmaking. About 20 persons were found in an office in a downtown building, were taken into custody and grilling as witnesses, but were released later.

McDonald will be charged with violation of the prohibition laws also, Mr. Boykin stated. Officers under the direction of Bert Donaldson conducted the raid and confiscated "books," racing charts and other paraphernalia said to be used in connection with the bookmaking business. "I intend to run up the city and to rid it of bookmakers if I have to place a special man to watch every man in Atlanta engaged in the business," Mr. Boykin said following the raid. "This is a continuation of the drive several weeks ago against this form of gambling, and it will continue. Violators of anti-bookmaking laws in Fulton county will be haled into court whenever they are caught."

YOUNG GIRL HURT WHEN RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

Miss Ruth McChesler, 14, of 156 Simpson street, was carried to Davis-Fischer sanitarium late Thursday night after being struck down by an automobile at Simpson and McKee streets. The car was driven by F. W. Lyon, 200 Simpson street, according to police reports.

Examination at the hospital showed no broken bones, surgeons stated. According to witnesses, the girl walked directly in front of the machine in crossing Simpson street, police stated. Her injuries are not considered serious.

Cell Officers Cheurning and Lee investigated. After the accident Lyons carried the child to the hospital in his automobile. He was not arrested.

Lewis Craig, of 29 Savannah street, reported to Police Captain J. L. Gordon Thursday night that an unidentified white driver of an automobile knocked him to the pavement at Edgewood avenue and Ivy street, as he was crossing the street. The man did not stop, but his license number was obtained and given to police by Craig.

C. A. Vickery, of 904 Church street, East Point, was held under a $100 bond Thursday night on a charge of reckless driving following an automobile collision on Whitehall street, near Humphries street. His automobile collided with a motorcycle driven by L. H. Kirkpatrick, of 60 Whitney avenue, police reported. Both cars were damaged, but occupants escaped unhurt.

STEEL KING HOST TO RICHEST PRINCE OF INDIAN LINE

New York, October 1.—(AP)—A ruler of American industry was host to one of the wealthiest princes of India when Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of United States Steel corporation, entertained the Maharajah of Kapurthala at a luncheon at the bankers' club.

Mr. Gary's hospitality was repaid by an urgent invitation to journey to the state of Kapurthala to attend the Maharajah's fifty-second birthday party on November 24, with rides on elephants caparisoned with a half-million dollars' worth of jewels and exhibition by dancing girls as the principal attractions.

The eastern ruler, whose revenues are estimated at $3,000,000 a year, arrived by way of Havana, Key West and Atlantic City after touring South America. Though he is traveling incognito, a considerable retinue of officials, secretaries and servants accompanied him.

The Maharajah has been a ruler since the age of three. He was married and divorced from the Spanish dancer, Anita Delgado.

Besides the Maharajah, the luncheon was attended by more than thirty prominent men in industry, politics and the professions.

The visit of the Maharajah will end Saturday when he sails for France.

CATTLEMAN PLAN TO HOLD SESSION DURING 1925 FAIR

Announcement of the fourteenth annual convention of the Southern Cattleman's association, on October 12-14, at the Southeastern Fair grounds during the 1925 fair, was made Thursday by J. F. Jackson, of Savannah, secretary and treasurer of the association.

According to Mr. Jackson the meeting will be the best held in the last five years. The convention will open with an address by Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

ATLANTA CLEARINGS AGAIN BREAK RECORD

The largest bank clearings in the history of Atlanta banks for the first Thursday in October were recorded Thursday with clearings totaling $12,806,806.47 or an increase of $3,401,775.85 for the same day last year. The nearest total to Thursday's figures was in 1919 with $11,847,342.99. If the high average shown in Thursday's reports is maintained during the month a new high record will be set for a month. The highest recorded for any month was in October, 1919, with clearings of $406,219,578.93.

STONE BAKERY VISITED BY 22,000 ATLANTANS

With more than 22,000 Atlantans already having inspected the new Stone Bakery plant, Highland avenue and Jackson street, during the past three days, the final opportunity for public inspection of the plant will come tonight from 7:30 until 10 o'clock. Several thousand persons are expected to pass through the huge plant during this time.

The immense throng which has passed through the plant during the past three nights shows the interest of the public in the new million-and-a-half-dollar plant, which is said by officials to be the finest baking plant in the South. The large number is all the more indicative of this interest when it is considered that no program has been offered with the reception, it is pointed out.

It was the desire of Harry D. Tipton, president of the Southern Baking company, of which this plant is a branch, that no program be offered. He urged the desirability of letting those interested in visiting the plant come with no incentive except that of seeing how the plant is operated and observing its output one year ago and building of the new plant was begun soon afterwards.

F. O. Stone, organizer of the Stone Baking company, is one of the directors and one of the largest stockholders. Through the 10 years of the Stone company it established a wide reputation throughout the United States.

The new plant has a capacity of 75,000 loaves of bread daily and 50,000 pounds of cakes. A fleet of 40 delivery trucks will serve the city and 250 workers are employed in preparation of products which go into thousands of homes in Atlanta and vicinity each day.

Officials of the plant are highly pleased over the attendance at the opening and predict the largest crowd of the four-day reception tonight.

Many prominent bakers, officials throughout the country who are attending the opening declare the new plant is one of the best equipped and most modern in the country.

One of Big Branches. The plant is owned and operated by the Southern Baking company and will be used by the company as a distribution point and headquarters for the other 10 plants owned and operated through the South. The Stone Baking company was acquired by the Southern Baking company one year ago and building of the new plant was begun soon afterwards.

F. O. Stone, organizer of the Stone Baking company, is one of the directors and one of the largest stockholders. Through the 10 years of the Stone company it established a wide reputation throughout the United States.

The new plant has a capacity of 75,000 loaves of bread daily and 50,000 pounds of cakes. A fleet of 40 delivery trucks will serve the city and 250 workers are employed in preparation of products which go into thousands of homes in Atlanta and vicinity each day.

Officials of the plant are highly pleased over the attendance at the opening and predict the largest crowd of the four-day reception tonight.

ALLIGATOR STEAK IS GIVEN PRAISE AT GREENSBORO

Greensboro, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—The lone alligator that has for more than six years been in a pond here, killed, and the steak was praised by those who tried it. The reptile was considered unsafe, as it would roam around, at one time crawling in the window of the city electric plant and scaring the fireman.

It was brought here from Florida when very young.

Baxter Gets City Job.

Jake Drennon, who has served several years as superintendent of the city garage, has resigned and Bruce Baxter, formerly employed in the city construction department, has been named as his successor, it was announced Thursday.

Wilson Memorial Body Launches Drive for Funds

Washington, October 1.—(AP)—The National Woodrow Wilson Memorial association today started a drive to raise $5,500,000 to erect memorials for the late president in Washington and at Princeton university. The memorial in Washington would be an educational institution erected on the outskirts of the national capital to be called the Woodrow Wilson Memorial university.

The campaign is in charge of a committee composed of Senator Copeland, New York; Governor Trinkle, Virginia; W. P. G. Harding, Boston Federal Reserve bank; Secretary Wilbur; Governor McLean, North Carolina; Governor Martin, Florida; Senator Caraway, Arkansas; Governor Brandon, Alabama; Governor Christman, Minnesota; Governor Terrill, Arkansas; Governor T. G. McLeod, South Carolina; Governor J. Erickson, Montana; Governor Donahay, Ohio; Governor A. McMillen, Nebraska; Governor Trapp, Oklahoma; Dr. David Starr Jordan, president Leland-Stanford university; William Green, president American Federation of Labor; Governor Charles Holbrook, Oregon, and others.

Compliments have been showered on the management by thousands during the period of inspection, hundreds having observed the system used in baking bread and cake and have gone away highly pleased with the facilities and sanitary conditions of the huge plant.

One of the features is the gift of a loaf of bread to each visitor, one little loaf expressing appreciation by eating the bread before leaving the plant. More than 3,000 doughnuts have been given away to visitors also, officials stated.

A novel feature of the new plant which has caused considerable comment is the effective lighting system outside of the plant. Two rows of strong, white lights are used on all sides of the building creating a circle of light for several blocks, and attracting the eyes of passersby.

Officials of the plant are highly pleased over the attendance at the opening and predict the largest crowd of the four-day reception tonight.

Many prominent bakers, officials throughout the country who are attending the opening declare the new plant is one of the best equipped and most modern in the country.

BIBLE CLASS LEADERS JOIN IN CONFERENCE

The second of a series of organized class conferences of adult Bible classes of Atlanta Baptist Sunday schools, was held Thursday night at the Baptist Tabernacle. The third and last of the series will be held next Thursday night at the same place.

Conferences are being held in preparation for a citywide leadership training school for Baptists in Atlanta, which will be held October 19 through 22, according to Mrs. W. L. Blankenship, educational director. It is expected that 700 Baptists will attend the school.

Principal speakers Thursday night were the Rev. C. H. Bolton, of Birmingham, Ala., who spoke on "The King's Business," and Dr. W. H. Major, pastor of Capitol Avenue Baptist church, who spoke on "Choosing a Life."

Devotional exercises were led by the Rev. A. W. Reeves, pastor of Grant Park Baptist church. Milton Bell, vice president of the chamber of commerce, gave a short discussion on service activities. Morgan Blake discussed recreational activities, and J. Elmer Slider, superintendent of the Tabernacle Sunday school, had charge of a fun program.

Miss Dora Haynes, Baraca class teacher, spoke on "Increasing Class Attendance." The concluding feature of the meeting was an open conference led by Lonnie Smith.

MUSCOGEE TO VOTE ON TAX EXEMPTION

Columbus, Ga., October 1.—Citizens of Muscogee county will vote on November 7 upon the question of whether certain industries in the county will be exempted from taxation for a period of five years.

The election will be called under authority of the act empowering counties and municipal corporations of the state to exempt certain industries.

BODY OF STUDENT AT GIRLS' COLLEGE CARRIED TO MIAMI

The body of Miss Hermoine Jaudon, 19, popular student of Agnes Scott college, who was found dead Tuesday in her room in the college dormitory, was taken Thursday night to Miami, Fla., for funeral services and interment.

Services will be held Monday afternoon from the residence of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. K. Jaudon, of 404 Northeast 27th street, the Rev. J. L. White, Baptist pastor and former Atlantan, officiating. Interment will be in the Miami cemetery, H. M. Patterson and Son had charge of the body which was turned over to W. H. Cone, Miami undertaker, who arrived Thursday afternoon.

Miss Jaudon was a popular student at Agnes Scott and a member of the sophomore class. She was a member of the leading scholastic fraternities and held other high honors.

Elrod Appointed.

Dr. J. O. Elrod, of Forsyth, was appointed Thursday by Governor Clifford Walker as a member of the state board of medical examiners to succeed Dr. W. C. Williams, Jr., of Cochran, whose resignation was received by the governor.

at CABLE'S Today and Saturday The New Columbia Phonograph

A Creation That Reaches the Pinnacle of Phonograph Perfection—a Musical Instrument That Has No Superior in Quality

For the next two days we are going to offer to the people of Atlanta and vicinity a wonderful opportunity to have a high-grade musical instrument delivered to their home for only $1.00 down, pay the balance on easy weekly or monthly payments. Act now, limited number of machines in this great offer—remember, today and Saturday only. Pictured herewith is one of the many new Columbia models included in this big three-day offer.

Ten of the Many Reasons Why the New Columbia Is Superior

1. It starts itself.
2. Stops itself; nothing to move, set, or measure.
3. New International Reproducer—a marvel of naturalness.
4. One-hand top, another convenient refinement.
5. Streamline cabinets, in good taste everywhere.
6. Straight, spun brass tone arm, enables tone to develop fully and naturally.
7. Tone leaves, built on pipe organ principle, control volume.
8. New Precision Motor, accurate, strong, smooth as a watch.
9. Bronze and brass bearings in motor, acting like jewels in a watch.
10. Perfect oiling system—easy, clean, convenient.

Come in, let us tell you other reasons why the New Columbia is a Phonograph without a parallel in quality.

College Park To Abrogate Five-Cent Fare Contract; Seven-Cent Rate Is Slated

Agreement Reached Which Will Remove Threat of Cessation of Service in Suburb.

Through a tentative agreement reached by officials of the Georgia Railway and Power company and officials of College Park, a seven-cent fare on the College Park line will be established and the old contract between that city and the company providing for a perpetual five-cent fare will be suspended, it was learned Thursday. In reaching this agreement, the company will not discontinue its service in College Park as originally planned.

Recently the company served notice on officials of College Park that it would discontinue service within that city on September 30. Mayor Couch, of College Park, obtained an injunction from Judge John L. Bell, of Fulton superior court, restraining the power company from discontinuing service in College Park.

The old contract, which provides for a five-cent fare for College Park citizens, will not be abrogated, but will be suspended it was learned. It was said that establishment of the seven-cent fare will also terminate litigation growing out of the company's ultimatum relative to a discontinuance of service.

Similar Decatur Situation.

The Decatur five-cent fare case is similar to the College Park case and that city recently obtained an injunction restraining the company from discontinuing its lines here. Notice was given official of Decatur that North Decatur line service would be discontinued in Decatur Wednesday, whereupon the Decatur officials obtained the restraining order pending a hearing by Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit, set for October 21.

Decatur officials have taken no steps toward reaching an agreement, it was learned Thursday night. The Decatur city council meets tonight, but no plan is yet formed to discuss the street car situation, as it is understood officials will wait for action on the injunction October 21 before taking any definite steps in the situation.

Agreement to establish the seven-cent fare to College Park was reached at a conference held by College Park officials headed by Mayor Couch and Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company. The following statement was issued Thursday by the power company in reference to the situation in College Park:

Power Company's Statement.

Mayor Hugh Couch and general council of College Park, and P. S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, had a friendly discussion of the College Park street railway situation, after which it was proposed unanimously by the mayor and council of College Park and accepted by the company that enforcement of the five-cent fare contract be suspended on the condition that the same fare prevail between College Park and Atlanta as prevails in the city of Atlanta. At the present time this would mean a seven-cent fare and time transfers. It was agreed that if the Atlanta fare should go up or come down the same change as made in Atlanta would be made on the line between College Park and Atlanta, and that if at any time any attempt should be made by any source to charge a higher fare between College Park and Atlanta than the prevailing fare at that time on the system of Atlanta, the five-cent fare contract would be resumed. College Park was not willing to abrogate or amend the five-cent fare contract, but only to suspend it pending the time when to investigate the question as to whether this arrangement can be put into effect without impairing the validity of the five-cent fare contract. If, after investigating, they find this can be done the new arrangement will be authorized. If, however, they are not satisfied on this point no new arrangement will be made.

RICHMOND COUNTY TO VOTE UPON ISSUE OF HIGHWAY BONDS

Augusta, Ga., October 1.—The election of Richmond county will go to the polls November 4 to decide upon the question of issuing approximately $700,000 in bonds to build hard-surfaced roads, if that suggested date is agreed upon by the county commissioners.

The state highway department is expected to match dollar for dollar the funds raised by Richmond county.

WARM FIRESIDE PROMISED TRAMPS BY KING OF HOBOES

Chicago, October 1.—(AP)—Warm firesides, hot coffee and doughnuts will be provided the unemployed who visit the hobo retreats throughout the country financed by James Eades Howe, St. Louis millionaire hobo, he has announced here.

This year's national convention of the "migratory workers" as Howe terms the peregrinators, will be held in Denver, November 11, a date selected, he said, because many of the delegates could sleep out in the open spaces there.

"Pretty, But Dumb," Says Beauty Expert Of American Girls

Seattle, Wash., October 1.—(AP)—Beautiful but dumb. That was the indictment hurled against many of America's prettiest by a man who has had a lot of experience.

Armand T. Nichols, director-general of the Atlantic City beauty pageant for four years, set forth his views of women here last night in his lecture. "The old saying of 'beautiful but dumb' is true," he said. "You can quote me to that effect if you wish. Most of the pretty girls I have met have heads as empty as their faces are beautiful."

Scant clothes, bobbed hair, cosmetics and wild parties play too important a part of the makeup of the girl today, Nichols declared.

"Bobbed hair will go out," he predicted. "Girls have their hair bobbed because they're too lazy to take care of it or merely because they want to be in the swim."

Nichols professed to see a return to pre-flapper days in sight. "I think the limit has been reached," he predicted, "that the sweet, modest girl of old is coming back. Bobbed hair is going out, it's only a passing fad. Modesty in dress will return without sacrifice of comfort."

German Pilot Gives Names Of Men on Whose Statements He Based Shenandoah Charge

Captain Heinen Stoutly Maintains That Dirigible Should Have Been Saved.

Lakehurst, N. J., October 1. (AP)—

Captain Anton Heinen, former German Zeppelin pilot, gave to the naval court of inquiry here today the names of the men upon whose statements he said he had based his charges that those at the Lakehurst air station knew why the Shenandoah collapsed, and that the change in the gas valve system in the airship had been fought all along.

They were Benjamin C. Hereth, a machinist's mate, and James Worth, chief draftsman at the air station. Hereth later denied on the stand that he had given Captain Heinen any reasons why the collapse occurred. Worth will be called later for questioning as to whether he did say that those at the air station had fought the reduction in the number of automatic gas valves on the ship.

Had Ample Warning. Before the court insisted on a disclosure of the names of the men referred to in his testimony yesterday, Captain Heinen had stoutly maintained that those in charge of the Shenandoah should have been warned by danger signals present in the air in ample time to have saved the ship.

Frankly conceding that while pilot German dirigibles he had been ascending air currents through errors of judgment, the witness maintained that in the case of the Shenandoah there should have been no error, since the signs were plainly present to be read.

Asked if there were any pilots in this country who would have gotten the Shenandoah out of the storm, Captain Heinen said there were many, including Commander Zachary Lansdowne, himself. Admitting, however, that his opinion of Captain Lansdowne as an airship pilot was not of the highest, the witness said the dead commander of the ship simply made a mistake in judgment, "because he had not quite enough experience out of the past."

Animated Solely by Duty. When his examination finally had been concluded, Captain Heinen, speaking slowly and with appearance of some emotion, made this statement to the court:

"I thank the court for their courtesy in allowing me to say the length that I thought it my duty and the most difficult duty of my life to do, and I am thankful that the spirit was accepted everywhere, especially in that quarter where I had to hit and want to make each man feel that here nothing personal ever entered my mind. I felt called upon to say about the airship what was in my heart, and I don't want any ill feeling to appear in anybody. That might be another statement that might be used against me. I had occasion since 1912 to train airship men in all courses of life in Germany, especially in civilian life, the army and the navy, and I can state here that I never found and had a more highly qualified lot of people that took the interest in this new development as here in the American navy."

Sought Out by Hereth. Captain Heinen, in his testimony that he told him what the ship broke up, told the court that he had not sought the man out, but that he had come to him.

"Did Hereth tell you at the time that he knew why the Shenandoah broke up?" asked the court.

"He did," Heinen replied. "He told me he saw the Shenandoah 'burst' in his own words, under present."

Authorization having been given by Secretary Wilbur to transfer the inquiry to Washington after the list of available witnesses here has been exhausted, members of the court expect to move on to that city early next week. Mrs. Zachary Lansdowne, widow of the commander of the ship, was notified late today that she would be heard there.

TRUCE IS REACHED UPON FRENCH DEBT

appointed, but he, nevertheless, regarded the results as a step forward and he felt that a better understanding between the two nations had been developed.

But observers and even members of the American commission held varied opinions as to the tangible results of the seven-day conference. Disappointment and dissatisfaction predominated in some quarters that the Americans had been unable to do more. Among all of those directly concerned with the negotiations there was a noticeable sense of relief at their conclusion.

While members of both commissions had different views as to the causes for the stop-gap arrangement finally resulting from the conferences, it was agreed generally that Secretary Mellon had stated the problem sufficiently in the last memorandum read to the French.

Not Was Capacity to Pay. "We believe it fully recognized," he said, "that the only basis of negotiations fair to both peoples is the principle of the capacity of France to pay."

"The nub of the difficulty of the two commissions arises from a difference in judgment as to the future capacity of France to pay."

The last day of the conversations brought vigorous, although vain efforts, evident even to casual observers, on the part of the two commissions to get together.

Chairman Mellon and four of the American commissioners sought the advice of the president early in the day and then told the French they could not accept the offer made yesterday, providing a series of lump sum payments spread over 68 years and returning a total of $6,220,000,000 to the American treasury.

Talked Only 10 Minutes. There was a talk of only 10 minutes between the two commissions, and then they separated to consider what the next move would be. It came in the form of the tentative arrangements which M. Caillaux is taking back to Paris.

M. Caillaux said he was unable personally to predict what view his government would take of the arrangement, and that he was without authority for the moment, with French public opinion, further than indications in press dispatches that general councils throughout the country were reacting to the government against the proposals the mission had made. The minister added that if his government approved the arrangement, "we shall certainly lay it before the chamber of deputies."

Stakes Government On It. "You understand," he said with unusual seriousness, "that if the chamber does not approve of it, the government will resign, so you see it is a serious matter with us."

"The proposal would go before the chamber first because it is a financial measure. Then if the chamber approved, to the senate. As we say on such occasions, the government always engages its responsibility. If the vote is not favorable, the government must resign."

The annual payments of $20,000,000 which the French have been making as interest on war supplies sold them, will continue while the five-year payment arrangement is under consideration in Paris. That debt does not mature until 1929, so provisions of that agreement will continue until superseded by a permanent funding arrangement.

Balked on Safety Clause. As the intricacies of the negotiations unfolded tonight after the smoke of battle had cleared, it became increasingly plain that some members of the American commission had balked flatly on the French demand for a safeguarding clause to permit France to reopen negotiations whenever the country's finances were thought to be in such condition as to preclude further immediate payments. That provision of the commission had stood out from the start against it, and when it appeared again in the final offer yesterday, it drew emphatic declarations from its opponents, who said it never could be defended in Congress.

Notwithstanding that opposition, spokesmen asserted the safeguarding clause might have been circumvented with some provisions for delay in payment under stated circumstances had the other proposals of the offer approached anywhere near the point of acceptance.

Coolidge Disliked Clause.

The clause was understood not to have been pleasing to the president. Likewise, publication in some newspapers, giving a French spokesman as authority that a settlement had been accepted upon obvious conditions, the Americans, who, after the white house conference, took occasion to make formal and emphatic denial. This but that other developments showed French mission into somewhat of an uneasy state of mind and obviously did not improve conditions under which the two later sessions were held.

It became evident for the first time, with publication of his statement, that the French mission had sought to develop a settlement here along the lines of the Anglo-French settlement negotiated in London recently.

Mr. Mellon's statement showed how the Anglo-French arrangement had divided the debt to Great Britain and sought to show in his detailed study of the French offer here that segregation of the amounts due the United States had been done in London.

MELLON PUBLISHES DEBT CORRESPONDENCE

debts, repayable in full at full current rates of interest. Already payment is being made of these two categories of obligations.

"The $407,000,000 representing France's indebtedness to the United States for surplus war stocks is, of course, of the same character as the similar indebtedness to England. Some $682,000,000 of the American advances represent exchange transactions, involving of mature commercial debt obligations and advances to the Bank of France. In order that the two creditor nations be treated on a parity, this sum would also be settled on the same basis as the Bank of France-Bank of England debt."

What Plan Would Necessitate. "These principles of settlement, as applied to France's indebtedness to the United States, would necessitate: (1) The $407,000,000 of indebtedness for surplus war supplies would, in these terms, be treated as a commercial debt. It now bears 5 per cent interest and matures in 1929. If from the 15th of June, 1925, the interest rate be reduced to 4 per cent, the rate which we now pay on our Liberty bonds, and if the principal be made payable over a period of 20 years, then the annual payments required would amount to over $20,000,000 per annum. This is parallel to the existing French agreement for payment of British surplus war supplies, except that it is based on a lower rate of interest and upon a term of years more favorable to France than accorded by England."

"(2) $682,000,000 of the $2,933,000,000 of other indebtedness represents advances to make payments on maturing commercial obligations and in support of the international exchange and is, therefore, on parallel lines to the advances made by the Bank of England to the Bank of France. If this were treated also upon a commercial basis and interest were calculated to June 15, 1925, at the rates paid by France to the Bank of England, the principal sum, with accrued interest at that date, would be $927,000,000, and if in this case, also, future interest be reduced to 4 per cent and the principal be repaid over a period of 20 years, the annual annuity required would be nearly $10,000,000. This again compares with the existing English-French settlement."

$61,000,000 Per Annum. "(3) If an annuity over 62 years comparable to that mentioned in the British-French negotiations were applied to the remainder of our debt, it would imply an annuity payable to us of about $61,000,000 per annum, even without the gold security involved in the British negotiations."

"The net result of the application of the principles of the settlement would bring about that France should pay to the United States an annual amount of $101,000,000 for the first 20 years, and $61,000,000 thereafter for 42 years. These payments would be altered if the annuity of $31,000,000 were deferred for the first seven years and added to the subsequent period, as discussed in London. It seems to us that these principles of repayment are infeasible to France in the application of its indebtedness to us."

"You have requested that we should be more specific and we have now the pleasure of laying before you a definite proposal."

Proposes Consolidation. "(1) We propose to consolidate the entire indebtedness into one total sum. The amount of this indebtedness as of June 15, 1925, with accrued interest at the rate of existing French obligations, is about $4,220,000,000. We propose, however, the interest should be calculated upon the most favorable basis of our previous settlements, under which the principal, with accrued interest, would as of June 15, 1925, amount to about $4,025,000,000, being a concession of over $200,000,000 in accrued interest."

"(2) We propose that the French government should undertake to pay the principal of the debt in annual installments, graduated upward during the period of 62 years, as is the case of the other settlements made by the United States. This would require at the first year the sum of $29,000,000 on account of the principal, and the payments on principal increasing gradually over the entire period of 62 years. You will recognize in the arrangement of this schedule, it has been the desire of the American commission to so arrange payments as to meet the economic and fiscal necessities of France."

Rate of Interest on Debt. "(3) There remains the question of the rate of interest to be paid upon the debt. In our desire to meet the difficulties of the French government, and at the same time try to provide that the American people may secure some return by participation in the increased strength and productivity to be expected in France, we propose that interest in the first year shall be at the rate of one-half of one per cent per annum, and that this rate shall increase each year by quarter of one per cent."

Secretary Mellon's reply to the final French offer, which was handed to the French mission today, said: "We wish to express our high appreciation of the frank and earnest effort of our French colleagues to find a basis for settlement of this, the most difficult problem which confronts our two peoples."

"We have before us the revised offer of the French commission, that is, France should pay $40,000,000 annually for the first five years; $60,000,000 annually for the following seven years, and $100,000,000 annually for the next 56 years, thus spreading payments over 68 years,

Paris Newspapers Bitter In Comment Upon Settlement

Paris, October 1.—The French press welcomes with relief the conclusion of the debt negotiations in Washington without an agreement, and points out that Caillaux's proposals represent only a temporary arrangement, the agreement for which has not yet been signed.

"The equity of necessity and justice bound up in this case was forced to give way to politics," says the Journal. "The figures show brutally what a heavy charge France has consented to assume."

"Throughout the whole affair," says the Petit Journal, "certain Americans lost the sentiment necessary for unity. They will probably finish by regretting it."

"We hope time will give them back that spirit which animated their soldiers in 1918," says L'Intransigeant. "Our negotiators should be reproached for offering figures that France could not have paid."

"If we had bowed to America," says L'Espresso, "we would have lost our independence after sacrificing our best blood. American imperialism is merciless. It is an imperialism of gold."

And Le Figaro—"In response to the gesture with which they meant to enslave us, we say 'no' without a single mental reservation."

There being important conditions attached to this proposal which render them impracticable, the French press is bitterly indignant.

Less Than 1 Per Cent Interest. "The total payments offered imply a return on the principal of the debt during that period, and at the end of this five-year period, the two governments shall again review the capacity of France to pay and determine at that time the terms which shall be paid over such further term as may be then agreed upon. The above is of course subject to the approval of congress."

It appears to us that within this period of five years, the economic problem, with which we are mutually confronted, will have been much clarified and we shall both be in position to make better determinations. We know that is the earnest desire of the American people not only to be just, but that they are willing to make necessary sacrifices. We believe that with peace, the natural progress of industry and commerce and the recovering strength of France, a basis can be found at such later date which will meet the views of our two countries."

GIRL DEFENDS FATHER ON MURDER CHARGE

had never been happier than during the last few months, when he had not bothered me. I asked him to let me answer the letter myself and he acquiesced."

"Did you write him?" "I did." State objections came frequently, a majority of them being overruled.

Miss Cole testified she broke her relations with Ormond of her own accord because he would not work, because he had a bad temper, and because she "could not look up to him as a husband."

"Did you receive a reply?" she was asked. "I did."

Asked to Take Ride. The witness testified that on February 15 her father came to her in tears and asked that she accompany him for a ride.

"He could hardly talk," she said. "I had never seen him act that way before."

"I did not know what to do," she said. "I went with him."

before. We had ridden about 10 miles when he showed me a letter."

A letter was identified by the witness as being the one her father showed to her. Mr. Brooks read it to the jury over vigorous objections from the state.

The young woman was asked her reply to her father.

Text of Letter to Cole. The complete text of the letter from Ormond to Cole follows:

"Dear Mr. Cole: "You have received two letters from me. One was as nice as I knew how to write, and no attention was paid to it. The other was written with no hard feelings. I simply tried to let you know the relation that had existed between your daughter and myself. Realizing as I do just how much I owe you, I am honest in coming to you, and all my statements are true from my heart. I will feel better knowing that I have been honest with you."

"There is not hatred or malice at all on my part toward you or any of the family, but when I see Libby's future and your home at stake, it does not make me mad, when you all treat me with contempt, but I have a feeling of pity, knowing that I might happen if the facts were uncovered. It is for your family I am writing this."

No Hard Feelings to Cole. "I haven't any hard feelings toward you for this, but still you do not realize what you have done to her."

"It is for your sake that I am giving the facts in the case. If we had not done what we have, through devoted love for each other, I would have dropped the matter when she told me, but I think enough of the family to save it from exposure."

"In your estimation, I know what you think of me, but it was not altogether my fault. 'Bill, I love you enough to do anything and we are going to get married soon. Do you think I would do this if I did not love you, Bill? As I see it, we have committed no sin except to society,' she has told me."

Didn't Show First Letter. "You did not show her the first letter I wrote you. I doubt if you had that heart-to-heart talk with her. I would be glad to know that the weight on her heart was lifted. You have no idea what she is going through with trying to please you."

"It is very evident to me during my last visit to town that the whole family hated me. Still, at the same time, I felt sorry for them, they were not knowing the facts."

"I hope you take this in the same spirit in which it is written."

Sincerely, "W. W. ORMOND."

"When the letter was read, half through, I told him it was a lie. He told me if it was true, to go on and marry him and that he would take care of us. But I told him Bill knew I could not marry him, and that I could not love him as a husband."

During the next two weeks, her father's attitude had changed, she said. "He seemed to grieve. He would not eat. He had trouble sleeping. I saw him several times within his room in an attitude of prayer," she said.

Mr. Moore brought out later on cross-examination that Cole in October, 1924, had sold an interest in one of his mills after a business controversy. Miss Cole said she had not known of this. He further brought out that the interest was sold to the man whose son, John Porter, is secretary and treasurer of the firm.

Porter also was a friend of Miss Cole.

Porter also was a friend of Miss Cole.

About two weeks after her father

first came to her, the witness testified that her father's attitude seemed to change after a trip to Raleigh. He brightened up, she said, and seemed more like his natural self.

The defense contends that while at Raleigh, Cole conferred with Ormond and obtained his signature to an agreement that he would not again visit Rockingham and would cease attempting to communicate with Miss Cole.

Throughout her testimony, the young woman betrayed no emotion. She glanced repeatedly in the direction of her father and often changed the position of her feet.

On cross-examination, the young woman testified that she had seen her father about an hour before the shooting. She was in an automobile, she said, and passed the Manufacturers' building in which he had an office. She saw him through the window and noticed that he was chatting laughingly with several persons. She did not stop.

Before she was excused the witness acknowledged her signature to several letters in possession of the state that will be introduced later, presumably in an effort to refute her testimony that she broke her relations with Ormond of her own accord.

Ruling on "Transitory Insanity." The court's ruling on the "transitory insanity" plea was based on the North Carolina law which holds. Judge Finley said, that insanity is a disease of the mind, and moral or temporary insanity is inadmissible. He told the Associated Press that the defense would be allowed to introduce evidence tending to show Cole's state of mind at the time of the shooting, and that his charge to the jury will include the law on insanity.

Value of Muscle Shoals Dam Is Fixed at $61,000,000; Its Cost Was $46,000,000

Operation of Nitrate Plants for Fertilizer and Series of New Dams Urged by McKenzie.

New York, October 1.—(AP)—Wilson dam, Muscle Shoals, has a productive value of $61,000,000. Major M. C. Tyler, army district engineer at the project, said today in a statement analyzing the commercial worth of that section.

He fixed its cost without the transformer station, at $46,000,000 of which $9,000,000 was deducted as going for navigation benefits.

"If the low water capacity of Wilson dam is devoted to operation of nitrate plants, or other strictly local market," said Major Tyler, "probably the dam would not produce more than 400,000,000 kilowatt hours. A comparison of $12,000,000, or about one-third of what is invested in it for power purposes.

MCKENZIE ADVISES NEW SHOALS DAMS.

Florence, Ala., October 1.—(AP)—Operations of the nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals for the manufacture of fertilizer in times of peace and munitions in times of war and the construction of a series of dams in the Muscle Shoals district, are favored by Representative John C. McKenzie, chairman of the Muscle Shoals commission, in a formal statement issued here today.

Referring to the work of the commission Mr. McKenzie said: "I am very much disappointed with the results of our efforts up to this time, but I am fully convinced that neither the welfare of agriculture, nor the best interest of national defense will be served by permitting the splendid nitrate plants to remain in standby condition while the power from the Wilson dam is dissipated and its economic value to agriculture very largely lost. It seems to me that the importance of operating the government's plants for the production of nitrates for explosives in time of war and for the manufacture of fertilizers in time of peace is so obvious that upon returning to Washington tomorrow it is my purpose to work up and have ready a plan for government ownership and operation of the power and nitrate plant properties, should such a course become necessary because of the indifference of private interests and their failure to cooperate.

"Such a plan will assure the people of this country, and especially the farmers that nitrate plant No. 2 shall be operated for fertilizer production, and furthermore, that the power from the Wilson dam shall be used for the purpose for which the dam was built and that purpose was to operate nitrate plants. We had no other purpose in authorizing its construction."

Informal conferences have been held by the mayor and members of council. The relative merits of the bond issue situation, and the mayor said Thursday these conferences have convinced him that the whole plan can be worked out in a satisfactory manner either in November or early in December.

and which was rebuilt with fireproof construction and is known as the Bon Air-Vanderbilt.

The relative interests of Atlanta will finance the project, it is reported here. Frank Adair, vice president of the Adair Realty and Trust company, who here yesterday in the interest of the project and was in conference with Commodore Stoltz and local real estate men.

Augusta's real estate boom is the result of Commodore Stoltz's visit here some weeks ago to discuss his hotel project, together with the report that Benjamin H. Marshall, of Chicago, will spend $3,000,000 in a hotel and colony development in North Augusta, just across the river here, and that another tourist hotel will be built on the Forrest Hills property on the Georgia side, in which the Adairs of Atlanta are interested.

PERMITS SHOW GAIN AT MACON.

Macon, October 1.—(AP)—Macon's building permits issued during the first nine months of the present year total $1,375,045, an increase of more than a quarter of a million over the figures for the corresponding period of 1924. Permits for the third quarter alone exceeded the previous figure by $140,000.

A majority of the new building is residences of the better class.

the volume of building permits issued in this district reached a new high point in August; the increase over August, 1924, was 20 per cent. Figures from Florida indicate a great volume of building activity, and orders from that state have been a factor in the improving lumber condition except that lately there has been an embargo on shipments to some points.

"Cotton consumption, shown in the monthly statement issued by the United States census bureau, in August exceeded by 15 per cent the amount consumed in the same month last year, and in the cotton growing states the increase over August last year was 25 per cent. Prices being received for spirits of turpentine and rosin have increased during the latter part of August and early September.

"Marketing statistics continue to show increases over a year ago in loans and deposits, both demand and savings; the volume of deposits to individual accounts, indicating probably better than any other single index the volume of general business, was 19 per cent greater for the week ended September 30 than for the corresponding week a year ago."

Why Young Is for Atlanta

Mr. William Candler, General Chairman, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Candler—

I do not believe in the "hide the candle under the bushel" act. If you have a good thing, why not let the world know it, in that others could participate, help to enjoy the benefits, and be happy.

It is known throughout the United States that Atlanta is the one outstanding central and distributing point of the entire southeastern states; its railroads and financial facilities have made it so. Why not specialize this by spreading the good news. Not even Atlanta themselves know of the thousands of small manufacturing industries within its limits; there is a reason for its cheap and dependable hydro-electric power—all of which should be ADVERTISED.

The textile industry is steadily moving from New England to the southern states. North Carolina is becoming crowded. We not only have the POWER, but the purest Anglo-Saxon labor in Georgia to take care of the textile situation, and they are needing the work. Why not advertise and bring industry and labor together, and make both happy and prosperous?

I could talk all day on the many reasons why the good things of Atlanta and Georgia should be brought out, made known, and why the information would be helpful in many ways. Furthermore, I think it extremely selfish for us not to do it.

In a word, I am one hundred per cent strong for the movement.

Very truly yours,

H. LANE YOUNG.

through the conning tower hatch to the bridge.

Saw Only Four Heads.

Geier thought the deck to be level, and apparently the ship riding normally, but Lira said that the bow was down ten degrees.

"I got to the surface and looked around," Geier said. "I counted six heads. The stern of the City of Rome was going away. After a few minutes, I looked for the other boys and I only saw four of them."

His testimony was taken to indicate that of the seven in the water, including himself, only three were saved by the boat lowered by the City of Rome.

Testifying as to the trip of the submarine, they said that the vessel was supposed to be on an engine test from 9 o'clock in the evening until the following morning, and therefore would have run on the surface of the water all night.

CITY OF ROME ARRIVES IN SAVANNAH.

Savannah, Ga., October 1.—(AP)—When the City of Rome, which collided with the submarine S-51, arrived here late today, it was met by attorneys of the Ocean Steamship company, who immediately went into conference with Captain Diehl.

Before going into the conference, Captain Diehl told newspaper men he had nothing to add to the statement relative to the collision other than what he had said in Boston.

The master of the ship and the attorney took into the captain's room the log of the vessel and a mass of other papers.

The steamship arrived at 4 o'clock this morning and was greeted by blowing of whistles by steamers in port.

ENRIGHT TO ENTER MAYORALTY RACE IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, October 1.—Police Commissioner Enright will enter the mayoralty race here as an independent candidate of the progressive party, according to a story in the New York American, one of W. R. Hearst's newspapers.

Enright's entrance into the field follows the refusal of Mayor Hylan to run as a progressive candidate against Senator James J. Walker, democrat, and Frank D. Waterman, republican.

Enright has been police commissioner of New York for eight years.

The progressive movement and spirit given the story of Enright's entry into the fray, there is no indication whether or not the police commissioner will become the candidate of Hearst, who figured as Hylan's chief backer in the recent primaries, in which the mayor was so severely defeated.

NEGRO SENTENCED TO ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR KILLING GIRL

Cincinnati, October 1.—(AP)—James Henry, 37, negro, confessed slayer of Edna Towse, 14, Addison, Ohio, was sentenced yesterday to be electrocuted January 9, remained in Hamilton county jail today to await preparations for his departure for the state penitentiary.

The imposing of the extreme penalty was the signal for a demonstration of applause by the spectators.

Henry was found guilty of robbery, attack and murder.

AMERICANS BUY BRITISH MANSION TO USE MATERIAL

London, October 1.—(AP)—Warwick Priory, one of the best-known mansions of western England, dating from the 12th century, has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander W. Weddell, of Richmond, Va., who intend to use the material of the building in their scheme to reproduce near Richmond, Sulgrave Manor, the home of the English ancestors of George Washington. It is intended to present the Sulgrave reproduction to the Virginia Historical Society. Mr. Weddell is American consul general at Mexico City.

DURHAM TOBACCO MAN DIES OF INJURIES

Danville, Va., October 1.—(AP)—Frank P. Smith, manager of the American Tobacco company, of Durham, N. C., died at a local hospital, succumbing to severe shock and injuries sustained when he fell beneath the wheels of a moving coach at the Southern station here.

of unseamlike conduct on the part of the officers and crew of the other craft.

That the submarine probably was running on the surface prior to the collision was brought out by the examination. Neither man was able, however, to give any information concerning the events immediately preceding the disaster.

A graphic picture of the disaster was given in the testimony of the pair. Geier was awakened by a "crash" and saw the chief signal man sliding another man up the stairs to the conning tower hatch, the only one believed open. Both men climbed

ATLANTA CUNARD DIVISION CENTER

Because of prosperity of Atlanta and the importance of this city as a traffic and transportation center of the entire south, the Cunard and Anchor steamship lines have created a new division of their organization to be known as the southern division, with Atlanta as headquarters and with Percy W. Whatmough, late of the New York office, as traffic manager. This was announced Thursday by E. Miller, who has represented these lines in this territory for many years. Under the new plan, Mr. Miller will continue to serve as manager of the new division, which will extend from the Potomac to the Rio Grande rivers embracing all the states within that territory.

During the past year, this territory has shown the largest percentage of increased business of any territory in the world. The type of planes flown in the Hawaiian flight, he testified, holds the record for seaplane design throughout the world, while, he added, the MacMillan amphibian planes "were the best suited for that trip of any available."

Larger Planes Possible.

Richardson asserted it is possible, with present knowledge of aviation, to construct planes of 50,000 or 70,000 pounds capacity, which would have a range radius of 3,000 miles without a load, or from 1,500 to 1,600 miles with bombs.

Commander R. L. Weyerbacker, another naval constructor, testified that the present naval air policy was not a grave discouragement to the men in the air service, but an actual barrier to recruiting airmen. Other witnesses throughout the day agreed with him.

Commander Patrick L. Bellinger, attached to the southern fleet and commander of the NC-1 on its trans-

ing. He is one of the best-known steamship men in New York and has been connected with the Cunard line for fourteen years. He has traveled extensively in the United States, Canada, Europe and around the world and is looked on as an authority on all matters pertaining to transportation and foreign travel.

In the last few years European and pleasure cruise business of the Cunard company in the southern states, including New Orleans, has been increasing steadily. Sir Ashley Sparks, managing director of the Cunard and Anchor lines, expects creation of the southern division to still further develop possibilities of business from the southern tier of states.

NAVAL FLIERS ASK SEPARATE AIR FORCE

flight and an outstanding naval constructor.

Richardson, explaining the grievances of flying men against the promotion system in vogue, cited his own case and asserted that unless a change is made, he, like forty other technical officers, who are aviators too, have little to look forward to in the navy.

Tolerated as Old Timer.

"Why," he told the board, "I'm only tolerated today as an old timer. I have no future. The only two positions that might be open to me, those of chief and assistant chief of the bureau, are denied me because of the strong feeling of line officers."

Richardson, in conformity with the views expressed by the witnesses who preceded him, declared that there are no airmen in the navy who would go as far as Colonel William Mitchell in endorsing the creation of a unified air force under the control and administration of a cabinet officer, similar to the British minister of war.

He took issue with Colonel Mitchell and other army officers, who testified that the United States is vulnerable to air attack across the Atlantic by planes flying from coast to coast.

No Immediate Danger.

"Any flight from Europe to the United States," he said, "would have to be made step by step. I don't know of any plane in any country that could come over with a military load. There is absolutely no immediate danger to the United States from planes crossing the Atlantic with bombs. It is true they might be brought part of the way on ships and then land on the coast and make their way to the interior."

Then it would be an easy matter to bomb us."

Attempting to uphold the navy, Richardson again took direct issue with Colonel Mitchell on his statement branding the unsuccessful Hawaiian flight and the MacMillan polar expedition as the work of "bungling amateurs." The type of planes flown in the Hawaiian flight, he testified, holds the record for seaplane design throughout the world, while, he added, the MacMillan amphibian planes "were the best suited for that trip of any available."

Larger Planes Possible.

Richardson asserted it is possible, with present knowledge of aviation, to construct planes of 50,000 or 70,000 pounds capacity, which would have a range radius of 3,000 miles without a load, or from 1,500 to 1,600 miles with bombs.

Commander Patrick L. Bellinger, attached to the southern fleet and commander of the NC-1 on its trans-

Atlantic flight, and Captain George C. Westervelt, manager of the naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia, also testified.

Commander John Rodgers, who commanded the ill-luck PN-0-1 on its attempt to fly across the Pacific to the Hawaiian islands, will testify Friday.

The board, it is learned, has summoned Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief of the fleet and now on the west coast, to appear here on October 8.

Howard G. Rath, who was a member of the first aircraft bombing squad over the German lines in 1918, also has been called. He is now a Los Angeles broker.

MITCHELL IS ORDERED TO REPORT TO A. G. O.

Washington, October 1.—The war department has ordered Colonel William Mitchell, instigator of charges that the government's air service is badly, if not criminally administered, to report to the adjutant general immediately.

The president's special aircraft inquiry board earlier in the day informed Secretary of War Davis that Mitchell's pressed themselves as no longer be required before the board.

In the absence of official information as to the reason for Mitchell's call, war department officials pointed out that he may have neglected to sign the register provided for all incoming officers reporting in Washington for duty, or that the charges leading to his expected court martial might have been served.

The usual procedure in court martial is to serve the officer with charges and give him time to examine them and prepare his case.

As the special aircraft inquiry board has finished with Mitchell, army officials have expressed themselves as seeing no reason why the storm center of the air investigation should not be immediately placed on military trial.

Credence was given the report that Mitchell's court martial had begun by a three-hour "pre-chamber" session Mitchell had Wednesday night with Chairman Morrow and two other members of the inquiry board.

It is believed that at this conference Mitchell informally gave additional data he had hoped to present to the board.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is an absolutely satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

Too Good to Be True—

So say some, but we ask you to test this health secret FREE for ten days

It is a fact that to those who have never heard it, the story of radio-active water's amazing health values seems too good to be true.

But that is because most people do not know that the curative and health values of the water at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and other health resorts is due to radio-activity.

New to Many

Radio-active water—a new idea to many—is true water. It cleanses the body of organic poisons which too often remain to lower vitality and resistance to disease.

But until recently it has never been made available to those who could not actually visit one of these famous health springs.

A Simple Method

Now because of an important discovery, radio-active water can be obtained in any home by a sure and inexpensive method.

The Radium Ore Revigator has made all this possible. Does not change the taste of the water.

We do not ask you to accept our claims or those of anyone else. All we ask is that you test it at our expense without the slightest obligation to yourself. You may get your supply of radio-active water—as much as you want for ten days—at

TECH FACES TOUGH FOE IN FLYING SQUADRON

Battle Between Wycoff And White Is Forecast; Tech in Good Condition

BY JOHN STATON.

Former All-Southern End.

When Saturday rolls around the plateau in Tech's football schedule will have been attained. From the V. M. I. game onward, Tech will meet a type of opposition that will test her capabilities to the utmost.

Not in any respect. But, game in and game out, Oglethorpe could not be considered as having a team the equal of V. M. I., Alabama, or the others. So Tech reaches the heights beginning Saturday.

In every game from now on, Tech will have at least an even chance to lose. In a good many of the games, let us say Penn State, Notre Dame and Vanderbilt, Tech will have better than an even chance to lose.

Realizing this situation, the coaching staff has pushed the Tech squad at a terrific pace this last week. And their development has been rapid. For the boys, eager to come into prominence, have put out nobly.

With no intent to assume a gloomy aspect, the V. M. I. game must be viewed with a certain amount of apprehension. In the first place, the Cadets have been favored with moderate weather, while Tech has had to pull into condition through a terrific wave of intense heat.

Beyond that, the Cadets have a real football team. "Windy" White, who was their big nose last year, is playing his last year on the team. Those who saw White in action last year will recall his long, graceful stride, which coupled with speed and driving power, makes him one of the men most to be feared on the southern gridiron.

Cadets Aggressive.
Coach Clay, who watched V. M. I. in action last Saturday, admits that they have a real team. He further admits that Tech will have to punish himself to defeat V. M. I. Tech is potentially able to defeat V. M. I. But, in order to accomplish that, Tech will have to play superb football; will have to play 50 per cent better than last Saturday. Anything less than fine football may prove fatal to the championship hopes of the Gold and White.

It will be remembered that Tech won the game last year, 2-0. A placement kick by Williams resulted in the score. And, incidentally, the V. M. I. victory is one of the very few that may be directly traced to Tech's air attack. Successful passes from Wycoff to Nabelle and Bob Reeves put the ball within striking distance of the goal.

LOYOLA DROPS OUT OF S.I.A.A.

Jackson, Miss., October 1.—(AP)—Dr. J. W. Resignation of the New Orleans institution followed extended discussion over the liberty of football players.

COLUMBUS MAN GIVES $10,000 TO COLUMBIA

Columbus, Ga., October 1.—(Special)—A gift of $10,000 from Dr. W. L. Cooke, of Columbus, for Columbia Theological seminary, to be established in Atlanta was announced today. A campaign is now in progress to secure $75,000 as part of the fund of $200,000 being raised in the synod of Georgia for Columbia seminary.

At the second meeting of the workers $17,878 was reported. The fund being raised in Columbus is for Columbia seminary, to be established in Atlanta was announced today. A campaign is now in progress to secure $75,000 as part of the fund of $200,000 being raised in the synod of Georgia for Columbia seminary.

The only cities in Georgia yet to be canvassed, workers announce, are Athens, Macon, Savannah, Thomasville, Carverville and LaGrange in closing the movement to secure $200,000 in the synod of Georgia for the new theological seminary.

Marist Encounters Aggies, Hurricane Meets Gordon And Decatur Plays Canton

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Three Atlanta prep football teams open the season this afternoon when Marist meets the Seventh District A. & M. team, Boys' High journeys to Barnesville to play Gordon Institute and Decatur High plays Canton at Decatur. G. M. A. has no game scheduled but will scrimmage the Fort McPherson team this afternoon at the fort.

Tech High and University will remain idle. Tech High meeting the strong Central High school team from Chattanooga Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock on the Henry W. Grady athletic field.

All of the preps have been practicing hard since the first of September. Tech High, which has been doing good work in practice, and also Sam Colvin, all-state end at Augusta Military academy, in Virginia last year, who is holding down the other flank. With this pair on the flanks the team should improve materially over that of last year.

Following are the boys who will make the trip to Barnesville: Fincher and Edwards, tackles; Madden and Shivers, guards; Terrell and Brown, centers; Spiers and Winn, full backs; and Hester and Cantel, halves; Watkins and Fowler, quarters.

New Decatur Team.
Decatur was hard hit by graduation last spring and a new team will take their first game when they meet Marist at Decatur. Decatur's new coach, Bowling, who was a star full back while at Mercer, has been established in the team and is confident of a victory over the Canton outfit.

In the backfield, Lyle at quarter, and Jackson at full, have been doing good work and are expected to star in today's game. Proctor, at right tackle, is another one of the men who has been showing up well and is expected to star.

The Decatur lineup follows: Grant and Jolly, ends; Mullins and Proctor, tackles; Broadwater and Morgan, guards; Robertson, center; Lyle, quarter; Cook and Ehle, halves; Jackson, fullback.

Captain Morrow has gradually rounded his G. M. A. bunch into shape, having beat several scrimmages, one of them at the Fort McPherson team Thursday, and another scheduled for today with the soldiers.

Merck, at center, McLean and Kyle at tackle, and Hester at end, all did good work in the scrimmage Thursday. Mott at half and Campbell at full, looked well in the backfield for G. M. A.

L. H. S. TO PLAY COLLEGE TEAM

LaGrange, Ga., October 1.—(Special)—LaGrange High school will go out of the high school class Friday when it meets Bethlehem college on the gridiron. Although young in the college world the Alabama institution will present a strong eleven composed of various high school stars. The odds are greatly against the locals, but Coach Gressette with his squad in the very best of condition are confident that they can win over the young collegians.

BERRY SCHOOLS GIVE COURSE IN FORESTRY

LaGrange, Ga., October 1.—(Special)—Coinciding with the observance of national fire prevention week, which begins October 4, teachers of forestry in Berry schools will emphasize, as never before, the necessity and waste of forest fires. It was announced here today.

The Berry school nationally known institution for mountain boys and girls, have taken an advanced step this year, the authorities state, in giving the forest reserve of the school better supervision. Elwood J. Terry, of Maryland, has been engaged to serve the school as teacher of forestry and as forest superintendent.

Terry was educated at Wesleyan and Harvard universities and has the master of forestry degree from Harvard. He will give a full course in practical forestry, which, educators here state, will mean much to the forest and lumber interests of the south, in that hundreds of boys from practically every southern state that attend Berry will receive instruction.

As pointed out by the school authorities, the south has experienced an unprecedented drought this year. In many sections crops are a total failure. Thousands of forest trees have died.

In addition to the loss of forests by drought," says the Berry school, "the destruction as result of forest fires has been appalling. With the prevailing drought, the utmost care should be exercised by all in seeing that no forest fires are allowed to start. In fact, it is nothing short of criminal to be careless in this respect, especially in a year like this."

In spite of the utmost care, a number of serious fires have broken out on the Berry school property recently. The school authorities state, and the drought has rendered them obstinate to control.

Free-For-All Pace Won By Sir Roch on Circuit

Columbus, Ohio, October 1.—(AP)—Sir Roch today won the Free-For-All pace, the feature event on the closing day's card of the Grand Circuit meeting here.

A break cost Sir Roch the final heat which went to Hal Mahone. After his jump which put him several lengths behind, Sir Roch paced the final quarter in 28 1/2 seconds, finishing fifth.

Cupid's Albinen and Clara Dillon were each heat winners in the Ohio Citizens' stake for 2:47 trotters, but the former was declared the winner as he won the heat carrying the largest purse. The same was true of the Buckeye trotting stake, which had only two starters. Trumpet won from Mike Dillon by virtue of winning the second heat and largest money.

Ribbon Cane won the Arch City stake.

The Summaries:
The Ohio Citizens stake, 2:47 trot, two heats, 2 and 11 miles, purse $1,200. Cupid's Albinen, b.g., by Albinen (Cox), 2: 1. Clara Dillon, b.m. (Murphy), 1: 3. Harry Up, b.g. (Wain), 2: 2. DON'T FOOL FOURNIER ON THE SECOND PITCH

"Duster" Mails once threw a fast one to Jack Fournier who missed it. Jake had the umpire look it over and Mails walked up to the plate and told Fournier, "I just fooled you, that's all." On the next pitch Fournier put the ball over the fence and he shouted, "I just fooled you, that's all!" to Mails as he rounded the sacks to the amusement of the Brooklyn fans. It is not every day that anybody puts one over the "Duster."

BILL CLYMER SUGGESTED FINE IN UNIQUE WAY

Bill Clymer, former Columbus manager, loved to fool the fans when he was roasting the umpires. One day at Columbus he rushed up to the umpire and yelled, "You promised to send me six fish and you only sent me five." The fans thought he was roasting the umpire. One however, quietly remarked to Clymer, "that will cost you twenty-five fish and three days." Hereafter Bill will not shout "fish" to an umpire, he says.

Citizens Contribute To Reward Purse In Flogging Case

Oneonta, Ala., October 1.—(AP)—Citizens of this place are collecting funds in the sum of $1,000 to be paid as a reward for information leading to the arrest of the hand of men who several nights ago flogged T. B. Russell, an attorney. His friends are active in an effort to run down the assailants, kidnaped him on the streets and inflicted punishment after carrying him to the woods.

Two stories are being told here in connection with the whipping. One is that Russell has been bitter in his opposition to a secret order and that he told friends after the flogging that his lawyers accused him of talking too much and of carrying a gun for members of the order. They are said to have taunted him with the remark "You are getting yours now." They told him to leave town, Russell is quoted as saying.

The other story is that Russell was warned to leave Oneonta after his wife sued him for divorce, charging infidelity and naming another woman. He did not heed the warning.

The group of citizens raising the money as a reward for the floggers are of the opinion, it is said, that the men who actively engaged in the flogging were from a nearby community, but that they were brought into Oneonta by a group of residents of this city.

COLUMBUS UNDERGOES ERA OF CONSTRUCTION

Columbus, Ga., October 1.—(AP)—Construction activities in the Columbus district have never been quite so marked, and the outlook for even greater enlargements and expansion is most promising, according to local contractors.

Public improvements underway and in contemplation represent investments up into the millions. The largest item in the list of construction activities planned is the $1,650,000 road bond issue, scheduled to be approved by the people of Muscogee county October 31. This will insure state and federal aid running up the total investment far above the two-million mark.

Another big public investment is the construction of a new stadium at Golden park, costing $300,000. The city is just now completing a paving program, representing an investment close to $100,000 and a sewer program of $75,000. Plans are under way for an investment of another $75,000 in sewers. A new high school, representing an investment of $400,000 is well under way and other city improvements are going on.

The Stone & Webster interests are now completing a mammoth dam and power plant just above Columbus that will cost near $7,000,000, and the Central of Georgia railroad began work of building a $15,000 addition to the union station here last week.

Over 100 homes have been constructed in Columbus and vicinity during the year. Building activity here in the United States Infantry school have continued, thus contributing to Columbus' wonderfully successful construction year.

COOL TEMPERATURES AGAIN TO PREVAIL

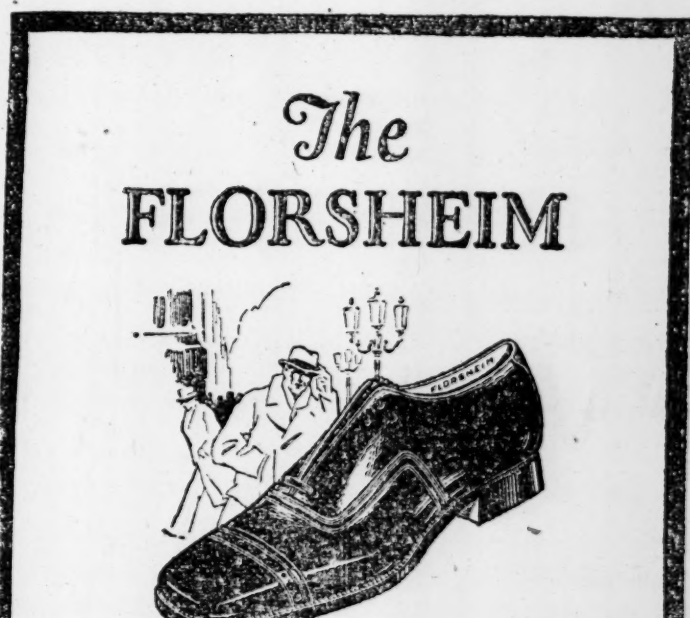

Fair weather is predicted for Atlanta and the state today with temperatures ranging from 60 to 80 degrees, by C. E. von Herrmann, chief of the weather bureau.

A continuation of temperatures experienced Thursday is predicted. The mercury reached 74, the lowest of the fall Thursday. The highest recorded was 84.

Several days of such weather may be expected, according to Mr. von Herrmann. At present no rain is in sight, but temperatures will be fairly low, he said.

The Washington forecast, however, is for partly cloudy weather, and showers in extreme north sections of state.

* Petrels Leave for Birmingham Game *

Robertson Is Undecided
Which Team To Start
Against Howard Bulldogs

BY ALTON REDFEARN.

Twenty-four Stormy Petrels, accompanied by Coach Harry Robertson, Manager Jarrard and Trainer Sartain will train this morning for Birmingham, where they meet the Howard College Bulldogs tomorrow afternoon.

Another scrimmage was the order of practice yesterday afternoon. However, this scrimmage was of a shorter duration than the one of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. A short and snappy one took place—just enough work to iron out the rough spots.

At present Coach Robertson is undecided as to whether he will start the second stringers or varsity against the Birmingham footballers. The consensus of opinion is that he will send his varsity men on the field to break the ice and if the opposition is not too strong, the second stringers will take up the duties.

The varsity and second teams stepped through a short, but whirlwind scrimmage yesterday afternoon against the freshmen and followed the combat with signal drilling until darkness intervened. On Monday and Tuesday afternoons the varsity machine remained idle, with regard to scrimmage, while the second stringers mingled with the fresh during the entire limit of both workouts.

The following players will train this morning: Parrish, Maurer, Campbell, Kilgore, White, Justus, Hardin, Corliss, Cooper, Carroll, Nix, Hutson, Walsh, Garlington, Shepard, Smith, Grimes, Guthrie, Redfearn, Gordy, Moseley, Hancock, Perkerson and Cousins.

The squad will arrive in Birmingham early this afternoon and a short signal practice will take place on the Birmingham field in order to brush up on the new plays and formations instituted this week.

MISS GILLETTE
ONLY GIRL IN AIR RACES

New York, October 1.—(AP)—For the second time Miss Ruth Gillette, daughter of a Los Angeles construction engineer, will be the only aviator to participate in the annual air race which begins October 8 at Mitchell field.

Miss Gillette took part in the on-to-Dayton race at the meet in Dayton, Ohio, last year. This year she will compete with 29 male pilots, many of them war veterans, in the on-to-New York race.

She will fly from Washington, D. C., to Mitchell field in a Sikorsky messenger plane, carrying a 90-horsepower engine.

RAIN HALTS
LITTLE SERIES

Louisville, October 1.—(AP)—The second game of the junior world series between the Louisville American association team and the Baltimore International was postponed today because of rain and wet grounds. The game will be played tomorrow, an open date in the schedule. Presidents Hickey and Toole called the game off after a conference.

Flying Squadron Arrives
In Atlanta This Morning

Lexington, Va., October 1.—(Special)—The V. M. I. football squad left here today by automobile for Lynchburg, and will there enroute for Atlanta, where the Cadets will clash Saturday with Georgia Tech. Upon arrival at Atlanta Friday morning the team will be given a light workout before taking up quarters at the Atlanta Biltmore.

The party will consist of about thirty persons, including Coaches Blandy Clarkson, Bill Raftery, West Faulkner, Trainer Quinlan, Manager Woodward and Captain Paul Caldwell and about thirty-three players. The team is in condition except for minor injuries sustained in practice, and the spirit is excellent, though the Cadets fully realize the strength of the Tech eleven.

For the last two years the Yellow Jackets have downed V. M. I. by the margin of a field goal when the Flying Squadron was given an even chance to win. This year, with only Snail Caldwell and Windy White, veterans of former battles against Tech, V. M. I. supporters will be satisfied if the Cadets make a reasonably good showing against what is reputed to be a much stronger team.

The coaches expect the Tech game to give them valuable information about the green material that practically makes up the Cadet machine, as this will be the first test for V. M. I. this season. Coaches Clarkson and Raftery were pleased when their

Miss Fordyce To Play
Former Atlantan Today;
Glenna Wins From Fritz

St. Louis, October 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Brilliant golf today marked the third-round matches of the women's national championship at the St. Louis Country club. All four winners scored under 80.

The lowest score of the losers was an approximate par 81. As a result of these contests, Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, of Ottawa, Canada, formerly of Atlanta, will meet Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown, Ohio, and Glenna Collett, of Providence, will compete with Edith Cummings, of Chicago, in the semi-finals.

Mrs. Fraser, who held the national title five years in succession while a resident of Atlanta, had to score three under par for the 16 holes played to defeat Mary K. Browne, of Los Angeles, three and two, while Miss Fordyce found Mrs. E. C. Letts, of Chicago, off her game and won handily, seven and five, by shooting three under par for 13 holes.

Miss Collett had the best score of the day, equalling the medalist card of 77, made by Mrs. Fraser Monday in overcoming Fritzie Stifel, of Wheeling, W. Va., three and two, and Miss Cummings was also three better than par for 15 holes, including two successive eagles, in eliminating Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, four and three.

Miss Collett played out the bye holes and got 38-39-77, while Miss Cummings, if she had played out the round at the speed she was going would have scored 37 on the second hole for a 77. Mrs. Fraser was fast scoring so well at the close, but on the basis of holes played she would have tallied 78, and possibly 77, for she shot the first nine in 37.

Beat Par Out. Miss Fordyce was one above par for the first half, but she was coming home at a 36 clip, which, if kept up, would have put her a 77. In the international match between Mrs. Fraser and Miss Browne, the Canadian started at a relentless pace, snatching three birdies on the first half and playing all the other six holes in perfect figures to gain a lead of five up with a 37, although Miss Browne was only two above par with 42. The Californian developed a slice at the start of the round, and this all but cost her the first hole, and did deprive her of the second and third. She lost the next two to a birdie and a par and was five down at the end of seven holes when she took four at the short seventh.

From there on the tennis champion outplayed Mrs. Fraser, but it was too great a task to overcome such a lead, when the most Mrs. Fraser would concede was to refrain from beating par.

Good Recoveries. Three down, the westerner laced out a drive of 250 yards down the center of the fifteenth fairway, outstripping Mrs. Fraser as usual from the tee. They were both short of the green, but both ran up close and Miss Browne, with the result of her match in the balance, sank a 12-foot putt for a half in birdie four. The tennis star sliced to the right of the tabled sixteenth green, 180 yards, while Mrs. Fraser pulled a long iron to the rough at the left. Both made splendid recoveries, and Miss Browne again sank from 12 feet for a par three, but it was no use, for the Canadian got down from four feet, halving the hole, and winning the match.

Their cards:
Par, out 543 554 356-40
Mrs. Fraser 333 454 355-37
Miss Browne 544 364 455-12
Par, in 553 655 345-41-81
Mrs. Fraser 454 664 3XX-XX
Miss Browne 444 654 3XX-XX
Mrs. Letts, who yesterday eliminated last year's champion, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, was not playing well today, taking 45 for the first nine and being three down to Miss Fordyce, who was over par on only two holes.

The former Ohio champion apparently decided to end the duel at the 13th green, for she shot three birdies on the next four holes and won all of them to be seven up.

Miss Collett lost the very first hole to a birdie and was lucky to halve the next in par four when Miss Stifel took three putts, but the Rhode Islander got down a 15-foot putt for a birdie two at the 18th, and third to even the match. They shared the next four holes in perfect figures, Miss Collett was two under par for the ninth with 38, while Miss Stifel was perfect with 40.

Birdie on Tenth. The West Virginian snared a birdie at the 10th in even affairs and there they stood for three holes.

Miss Stifel scored pars on the next two and Miss Collett grabbed two birdies and became two up. They both slipped at the 16th, reaching the green in two. Miss Collett ran up short and then Miss Stifel sealed her doom by rolling to one side and striking her ball, taking five and losing the match. They played out the round and Miss Collett bagged her fourth birdie on the half on the 18th, making seven for the 18 holes.

Their card:
Miss Collett:
Out 542 564 345-38
Miss Stifel:
Out 443 564 347-40
Miss Collett:
In 544 544 444-39-77
Miss Stifel:
In 454 555 545-12-82

About the only fault Miss Cummings committed on the first nine was to take three putts on the third green, but she got a birdie on the fourth to become one up as she had won the second when Mrs. Hill took five. She won the next in par to be two up and then could not gain an inch for the next four holes.

The most remarkable play of the day was exhibited by the Chicagoan on the next two holes, where she got two eagle 3s in a row. At the tenth her approach was within 18 feet of the cup on the hill top green and she sank it like a plummet.

MONTEZUMA COMPANY TO SUBDIVIDE FARMS

Montezuma, Ga., October 1.—(Special)—J. B. Easterlin, Jr., Lynn McKenzie, E. C. Duke and B. F. Neal, of Montezuma, have just applied for a charter incorporating themselves as the Georgia-Florida Realty company. The prospects of paving the highway from Peach county line to Sumter county, a distance of 30 miles, has already created a most unusual interest in Macon county property.

These young men plan to bring new capital into Macon county, and if necessary, assist in financing the purchasers where they are able to pay a good percentage on the purchase price. They also plan to divide some of the larger plantations that are listed with them into smaller farms suitable for investors who do not care for large tracts of land.

Balanced—

One glance in the mirror shows that the Bergster hat has just the balanced lines needed to set off that new topcoat. It looks right when you try it on first and it stays that way. It has a positive air that banishes doubt.

Successful—

A touch of the links on an autumn morning—a hint of Wall Street—you sense these in the new Berg hats for fall. They are truly hats for successful men.

Forceful—

Strength of character shows in the lines of the face more than anywhere else. Whether these lines are those of the big game hunter or the literary man, there is something about a Berg hat that brings them out to their best advantage.

STYLE in the new Fall Bergster is achieved without transgressing the bounds of that correctness which characterizes the dress of a gentleman.

DURABILITY is built into every Berg hat by the Sta-Shape process—a feature which strengthens the hat in the parts that count.

APPEARANCE—there is something about the Bergster—something subtly flattering to the appearance of most men—more so than any hat they have ever worn.

See the Bergster in the smart new French pearls and biscuit tans. Try one on today. Most good hatters have it. The price is $7—other Bergs from $5 up.

KILPATRICK WILL BE HELD OUT OF VIRGINIA GAME

Backfield of Dominion May Be Reorganized; Athens Awaits Opening

By MARCUS BRYANT.

Athens, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—“Jelly” Rogers was shifted to tackle Thursday as the Georgia Bulldogs scrimmaged for the last time before the Virginia game Saturday. Coach Woodruff will send the Red and Black through a final drill this afternoon. Jerseys were issued Thursday to the 33 members of the squad.

The Cavaliers will arrive in Athens at noon today over the Southern and will go through a light workout on Sanford field this afternoon.

The first team used against the Freshmen follows: Forber, center; Eubanks and Hand, guards; Luckie and Rogers, tackles; Thompson and Curran, ends; Moore, quarterback; Morton and McGuire, halves, and Nelson, full. This is the same line-up which faced Mercer with the exception of Huff, who played tackle, and Kain at halfback.

Several Hurt. When the Georgia Bulldogs face the Virginia Cavaliers here Saturday the players will be minus the service of “Buster” Kilpatrick, Devereaux Bacon, “Blackshear” Smith, Roy Estes and Tom Nash.

Kilpatrick is still held out with an injury received in the first scrimmage of the season. Bacon, one of the best tackles in the local camp, will be absent due to injuries. He along with Estes and Nash, was held out of the Mercer game last Saturday. “Blackshear” Smith, reserve tackle who has been going good this year, played in the game with the Bears only 30 seconds before being injured.

All of these will be out indefinitely with the exception of Eubanks. In the Mercer game he exhibited real form at guard and he will probably see service Saturday.

Scrimmages have been held daily this week and the coaching staff has been busy giving attention to the defects shown in the initial game and to the development of greater punch and alertness.

Wednesday the same team which started the Mercer game was pitted against the freshmen with the exception of Kain. It read: Forber, center; Rogers and Hand, guards; Luckie and Huff, tackles; Captain Thompson and Curran, ends; Hollis, quarterback; Morton and McGuire, halves; and Nelson, full. Substitutions were numerous, however.

Guards Improve. Gene Smith and Lefter, guards, have been showing up well this week and should fit in nicely should they be called upon. Smith was shifted from the backfield, where he played on last year's freshman team.

“Wee Willie” Hatcher ran well in the scrimmage Tuesday. “Bob” McGuire, from last year's freshman outfit, is filling a halfback position in good style and Kain and Boland is a much-improved fullback over last year.

Saturday's game with the Orange and Blue will be the first appearance here this year of the Bulldogs and the largest opening game attendance in history is expected.

The Virginia squad will arrive in Athens Friday morning and will go through a drill in the afternoon on Sanford field.

NEW BACKFIELD MAY BE ORGANIZED.

University, Va., October 1.—(AP)—Virginia's backfield may have to be reorganized by Earle Neale, head coach, before the game with Georgia in Athens on Saturday, for the injury which caused Buck Cuddy to be taken from the Hampden-Sydney game may keep him out of action.

It was said today that Cuddy had sustained a fracture, but when he was taken to the hospital Saturday night for an X-ray examination no broken bones could be discovered. But the hurt is such that he has been forced to take a place on the side line with Ted Laird, another regular halfback who was crippled in practice before the opening game.

Quintus Hutter has, however, been doing such good work that the possible loss of these two men has been somewhat made up for. Hutter, who weighs 185 and stands 6 feet 1, seems to be potentially the sort of big plugging fullback that Virginia has needed and with continued drilling he will probably develop into a steady ground gainer through the lines. But he has much to learn.

Coach Neale will have to build up

WINGFIELD BEATS SENATORS.

Boston, October 1.—Wingfield's pitching proved too much for Washington's offense today, the Red Sox taking the second game of the series, 3 to 1. Only three runs were made against him, two of which came in the first inning when the Senators scored their only runs. The spectacular playing of Herrera at second base, a recent addition to the Boston team, was a feature.

BROWNS CINCINNATI.

St. Louis, October 1.—The St. Louis Browns clinched third place in the final American league standing for 1925 by overcoming the Detroit Tigers today, 4 to 3, in the opening contest of a three-game series. The league race now has the two remaining titles without dropping in position.

Manager George Slaughter, leading American league hitter in 1925, came out of his recent slump by singling in the first inning for his first hit in 26 innings.

Clemson To Play Auburn; Alabama Meets Panthers

Birmingham, Ala., October 1.—(AP)—With a fairly good showing in the opening games, Alabama football teams will provide an excellent sport menu for the coming Saturday.

Auburn and Clemson will occupy the spotlight in Alabama sportdom on that day, while Alabama and Birmingham-Southern will come in for their share of attention.

Auburn will journey into South Carolina to meet Clemson for the second game of the season, and Tiger backers are looking for a victory over the strong team of the Clemsonites, as a result of the strong showing made against Birmingham-Southern last Saturday.

The veil of pessimism that hung over the Auburn encampment during the first week of the training season has been pushed aside, largely through a definite demonstration of ability on the part of the new machine. Doped to find a hard problem in the Birmingham-Southern Panthers, the Tiger gave the state quite a jolt by producing a 25-6 win. Before the Panther game there were very few experts that openly predicted a win over Clemson, as the 1925 machine was then a doubtful factor.

There are experts who are looking to Auburn to do things this year. Many believe that the team carries a powerful offensive, which has not been equaled by an Auburn team in many years. In Saturday's game the Auburn team showed a clever aerial attack, some bewildering fake backs and some really speedy end runs, in addition to the old Auburn stand-by, straight-line plunges.

A speedy, versatile backfield and a consistently good line seem to have been developed by the new Tiger coach in his sojourn on the Plains.

Panthers Lack Line.

Birmingham-Southern is not rated as even a possible winner in their coming game with Alabama. The Panther eleven was touted highly Saturday, and the woeful lack of a line indicated that it will be at least another year until the southern team will be among the strongest in the state.

A bewildering passing attack and some flashy end running seem to be the Panthers' main stock in trade. Line backs failed Saturday consistently and the kicking department failed to register anything startling.

Down at Tusculum Saturday Alabama proved that she is in no terrible condition in football. Terrible blunders that trickled from the Tide stronghold during training rather alarmed Bama well-wishers. The 53-0 victory over Union has done much to alleviate this alarm. Bama backers were over weak line, but a line that is good enough to hold back a set-up like Union while a parade of backs runs up a total of eight touchdowns is a strong aggregation.

Reports were that Union put an experienced team into the field against the Tide, and the true follower of football knows that an experienced team can do wonders against a weak line, however outclassed they may be.

Constitution To Publish Football Series by Zuppke

Under the title, "Follow the Ball," Robert C. Zuppke, football coach of the University of Illinois, developer of the famous "Red" Grange and one of the greatest mentors of the gridiron in the world, has written a series of forceful and unusual articles on the great American game.

Zuppke is artist and philosopher, as well as supreme football strategist. He pictures football as an art and a philosophy. Food for thought, stirring, stimulating, energizing is in his every sentence.

Brilliant Ceremony Unites Miss Thomas and Dr. Warren

The marriage of Miss Irene Thomas and Dr. Green Dodd Warren was solemnized Thursday evening at 9 o'clock at the All Saint's Episcopal church before a representative company of relatives and friends with the Rev. Dr. W. W. Memminger, rector of the church, officiating. The ceremony was marked by brilliance and beauty, being perfect in every detail.

H. T. Adams, cousin of the bride, sang "Oh, Perfect Love" preceding the ceremony, while William C. Arnold, the church organist, rendered an appropriate program during the assembling of the guests.

The architectural beauty of the church was enhanced by the handsome decorations which presented a magnificent setting for the occasion. The chancel was banked with palms, ferns and richly hued foliage plants. Massive urns holding Ascension lilies were placed at intervals amongst the greenery, while two of these urns stood guard at the entrance to the chancel. Slender white taper burning in cathedral candelabra were placed on either side of the chancel and reflected a soft gleam over the wedding party. Clusters of Ascension lilies tied with wide white satin ribbons marked the pews reserved for the immediate families to the bride and groom.

Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mr. Arnold for the entrance of the wedding party. The ushers entered first and included Dr. Thomas P. Hinman, F. J. Paxon, Dr. B. K. Vann and J. M. McCullough.

Wedding Attendants. The ushers were followed by the bridesmaids, who descended the aisle accompanied by the groomsmen. The bridesmaids wore white dresses with white veils, and the groomsmen wore dark suits with white shirts and ties.

The bridesmaids included the following: Misses Dorothy Dool, Anne Kessrich, Aileen Dickey, of Fitzgerald, and Nenni Suter, of Memphis, Tenn.

The groomsmen included Hugh Lohengrin, of the city, and Dr. Green Dodd Warren, of the city.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle with a full skirt and a long train. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies. The groom wore a dark suit with a white shirt and tie.

The ceremony was a beautiful and memorable occasion for all who attended.

gowns of the circular skirts. Semi-trains of the chifon were attached to the modish V waistline at the back and they carried arm bouquets of pastel-shaded flowers tied with pink ribbons.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Newton Slater Thomas, of Richmond, Va., and Miss Alice Smith, senior maid of honor, wore exquisite gowns in a delicate shade of pink with satin foundations to match. They were made along straight lines with a soft front drape held in place by tiny hand-made tucks. A three-tiered giraffe effect of the chifon caught with full blown pink roses added a distinct note to the unusual costumes. A sash of the chifon fell from the left shoulder where it was caught with a single full blown pink rose. Their bouquets were of vari-colored blossoms tied with pastel blue ribbons.

Miss Palmer Dullis was the attractive junior maid of honor. She wore a Jean Patou model of shell pink crepe trimmed with tulle and lace. She carried a bouquet of Dresden flowers tied with delicate blue ribbon.

Little Miss Espie Dullis was the charming flower girl and was a dainty figure wearing a frock of shell pink chifon created of myriads of frills and lace. She carried a basket of tiny roses and a basket of vari-colored flowers.

Beautiful Bride. The beautiful young bride was given in marriage by her brother, Maurice Thomas. They were joined at the altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. W. C. Warren, Jr.

The bride's extreme beauty was heightened by the wisdom of her wedding gown, which was fashioned of soft lustrous white satin along straight simple lines. An exquisite embroidery of pearls and crystals was lavishly used in the trimming of the gown. The hem line of the graceful skirt was finished with rosettes of tulle centered with pearl medallions. Pearls and crystals outlined the bateau neckline in the front and the modish deep shaped back. The beautiful court train of chifon was bordered with lovely rose point lace. Pearls and crystals were effectively used where the lace and chifon were combined, outlining the exquisite lace design.

Her bridal veil of filmy tulle was held to her soft dark hair with a cap effect of rose point lace and fell to the end of the train. Clusters of orange blossoms gave a becoming finish to the veil holding it in place on each side of the head.

The bride carried a gorgeous bouquet of white orchids showered with valley lilies.

Wedding Reception. Following the marriage service the bride's mother, Mrs. Irene B. Williams, entertained the members of the bridal party and the immediate families at a reception at her home on Burdette drive.

Mrs. Williams wore a handsome gown of gold-colored embossed velvet trimmed with silver fox fur. A corsage bouquet of orchids was worn with the costume.

Mrs. W. C. Warren, the groom's mother, was gowned in French blue chifon trimmed with sequins to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Mrs. J. L. Stephenson, of Covington, Ga., wore a beautiful gown of green brocaded velvet with a corsage bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies.

The bride's table was beautifully appointed in every detail, a color motif of green and white being carried out in the decoration. A circular centerpiece of feathery green ferns fringed with valley lilies graced the center of the table. An epergne filled with white roses and valley lilies graced the center of the table. Smaller epergnes filled with white roses were artistically arranged at intervals alternating with burning white tapers tied with airy bows of white tulle holding sprays of valley lilies. The reception rooms of the home were decorated with burning white tapers tied with airy bows of white tulle holding sprays of valley lilies.

Wedding Trip. During the evening Dr. Warren and his bride left for a wedding trip to Atlantic City, New York and Canada. The bride's traveling costume was a striking model in pencil blue velvet worn with mauve colored fox fur and close-fitting hat of mauve velvet. On their return Dr. and Mrs. Warren will be at home at 636 Peachtree street.

"Forget-Me-Not" Day To Be Observed. The fifth "Forget-Me-Not" day for the disabled veterans of the world war, and sponsored by the Service Star Legion throughout the United States, will be observed in Atlanta by the sale of "forget-me-nots" on the streets. Headquarters for the drive will be on the main floor, near the entrance of the Atlanta-Lowry National bank, Pryor street.

The following officers of this drive are: Mrs. Sam D. Jones, president; War Mothers' Service Star Legion of Fulton county; Mrs. Henry M. Nichols, chairman; Mrs. James K. Jordan, first vice chairman; Mrs. Stanley Moore, second vice chairman; Mrs. M. B. Farnham, fourth vice chairman; and Mrs. John L. Tye, Sr., fifth vice chairman.

The first annual meeting of the Atlanta Branch of the Southern Women's Educational Alliance was held Tuesday afternoon at the Biltmore hotel and interesting reports of the year's work were made. In presenting her report, Mrs. Samuel M. E. Dr. J. R. McCain, chairman of the education committee, described the educational program of the alliance, which has been prepared by the alliance to help the girl in college to choose her vocation wisely and to understand the training required for it. Dr. McCain announced that Agnes Scott college and Duke university are two of the six southern colleges in which this course will be used during the coming year. He also told about the work being done for the rural girl by the alliance in cooperation with the University of North Carolina and the University of Virginia, saying that it was hoped a similar project could be undertaken in Georgia soon.

Miss Helen Douglas, Miss Tommie Dora Barker and John T. Hancock spoke convincingly of the value of the alliance study of occupations open to women in Atlanta. They stressed the importance of this study, both to individual girls and women and to the business and professional life of Atlanta. Mrs. J. L. Stephenson, Jr., read a number of letters received from authorities in the various fields of work in Atlanta, all of whom expressed their appreciation of this phase of the alliance work. This study is the first of its kind to be made in the south and places Atlanta sixth among the cities in the country in such an undertaking.

The nominating committee, composed of Dean Nannette Hopkins, Miss Jessie Muse and Dr. J. R. McCain, proposed that the officers for the past year be re-elected. On a unanimous vote, the following officers were elected: Mrs. Samuel M. E. Dr. J. R. McCain, chairman; Mrs. Charles A. Conklin, president; Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, Jr., Edwin K. Large, vice presidents; Mrs. Blair Foster, Mrs. Rembert Marshall, secretaries; James F. Alexander, treasurer.

In closing the meeting, both Mrs. Inman and Mrs. Conklin, chairman of the membership committee, made an appeal to the members present to increase the membership of the Atlanta branch. The alliance, which is the only organization of its kind in the south, is helping young women to choose and prepare for the right occupation with the least waste of time and effort. All those who are interested in such a work are invited to become members of the Atlanta branch and thus help to carry forward its program.

P.-T. A. Council Will Employ Nurse for Special Classes

The decision to employ at once and maintain a nurse for the special classes in the city's grammar and senior high schools by the Atlanta P.-T. A. council was the outstanding feature of the initial fall meeting of the P.-T. A. council held Thursday morning on the fourth floor of Rick's department store. This undertaking will be the one big project of the P.-T. A. council for the 1925-26 and every effort will be made to assist in the work of the special classes.

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta's public schools, related to the members of the council the need of a nurse for these classes, outlining in detail the needs and benefits of the special classes. Professor Sutton also stressed the value of the development of the individual child.

Important Motion.

Another important feature of the meeting Thursday was the passing of the motion for the P.-T. A. council to request the administrative officers of the city's public schools to make the exercises of the elementary junior high schools very simple and unpretentious and that no definite form of dress for the occasion be prescribed.

Mrs. E. D. McDonald made the above motion with the foregoing remark that "since the public school system of Atlanta is a democratic institution and in order that no child may be embarrassed by not having a specific dress or uniform at the promotion exercises."

The meeting Thursday was presided over by Mrs. George M. Howson, president of the council. She extended welcome greetings to the members and spoke enthusiastically of work planned by the council for 1925-26. The report of Mrs. Howson was of wide interest and will be published on The Constitution's Parent-Teacher's page Sunday with a more comprehensive report of the Thursday meeting.

Mrs. Carrie Cundell Rogers will arrive next week to visit her nephew, Frank Cundell.

Mrs. Frank Cundell still continues quite ill at her home, 20 Oakdale road.

"Vacant Chair Circle" Meets With Mrs. Gray

The October meeting of the "Vacant Chair" circle was held Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. James R. Gray, Jr., on Peachtree road.

Several new members were present and plans for the coming year's work discussed. The most important thing discussed was the installation of a furnace in the Vacant Chair Memorial hospital at the Atlanta Child's Home on Hightower road.

Mrs. F. P. Gaffney, the originator of the idea of the "Vacant Chair circle," explained to the new members the beginning of the circle and told that the hospital took care of the sick babies at the Atlanta Child's Home.

Mrs. Wingfield Jones was appointed corresponding secretary.

Among the new members present were: Mrs. C. O. Martin, Mrs. Stanton Threlkett, Mrs. L. W. Robert, Jr., Mrs. Cecil Stroblar, Mrs. Julian Barrett and Mrs. Arthur Clark.

Following the meeting luncheon was served.

About 25 members were present.

Mrs. McGee Heads East Point Club.

Mrs. James T. McGee was unanimously elected president for the coming year at the meeting held Tuesday, September 29, by the East Point Woman's club.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, Mrs. El L. Humphreys; second vice president, Mrs. J. T. Mitchell; recording secretary, Mrs. R. S. Thompson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Paul Gowder; treasurer, Mrs. E. H. Vanvornden.

The October business meeting will be held on Friday afternoon, October 2, at the home of Mrs. P. P. Carmichael, at which time chairmen of departmental committees will be appointed, and the work for the winter will be planned.

TOMPKINS IS FREED ON SHOOTING COUNT IN "LOVE TANGLE"

Jesse F. Tompkins, of South Pryor street, Thursday was acquitted of a charge of shooting at another, but was fined $25 for carrying a pistol without a license by Judge G. H. Howard. He paid the fine.

Tompkins was charged in an indictment returned by a Fulton county grand jury with having shot at Harry Duncan in the Peachtree avenue on the night of September 2. The affray is alleged to have been the outgrowth of ill feeling between the two men because of alleged attentions of Duncan to Tompkins' wife.

Duncan is under indictment on a charge of assault and battery and is slated to go on trial this morning. H. W. McLarty, Tompkins' attorney, who opposed Assistant Solicitor General John Hudson in the trial Thursday, will assist in the prosecution of Duncan today. It was announced Thursday night.

Prior to the shooting, Tompkins got an injunction in superior court to prevent Duncan from sending flowers, candy and other alleged "love tokens" to the former's wife. Duncan retaliated by taking out an injunction preventing Mrs. Tompkins from "teasing him over the phone or otherwise molesting him."

JONES, BLOODWORTH CASE TO BE ARGUED MONDAY AT CAPITOL

Columbus, Ga., October 1.—Briefs for the state and the defendants have been completed in the Jones-Bloodworth murder case which is set for hearing in the state supreme court Monday. Solicitor General Walker, H. Flournoy and George S. Palmer will present arguments for the state, while Hon. R. E. McCall, of Taylor county, will represent the defendants.

Willie Jones and Gertrude Bloodworth are condemned for the murder in Taylor county December 13, 1923, of Howard F. Underwood, medicine salesman. They are seeking their third trial, having escaped the gallows five times.

AGNES SCOTT HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR MISS JAUDON

Decatur, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—A memorial service was conducted in the college chapel at Agnes Scott in memory of Miss Hermoine Jaudon, a member of the student body, who died suddenly Tuesday. The services occupied the regular chapel period and were in charge of the student government association and the Y. W. C. A. Misses Virginia Browning and Virginia Coe led in the Scripture readings and memorial tributes, and Mrs. S. G. Stokes rendered an appropriate solo. Favorite hymns of the deceased were used by the choir.

The body of Miss Jaudon was taken here tonight when Colonel J. E. Huie, well-known real estate man, was elected president; Emmett White, first vice president; W. F. Upchurch, second vice president; B. B. Baker, treasurer, and H. B. Suttles, secretary.

East Point Chamber Elects Huie as Head At Organization Meet

East Point, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—The East Point chamber of commerce was officially organized here tonight when Colonel J. E. Huie, well-known real estate man, was elected president; Emmett White, first vice president; W. F. Upchurch, second vice president; B. B. Baker, treasurer, and H. B. Suttles, secretary.

Various committees, including the one on bylaws for the chamber, were appointed, and will make reports at the next meeting, next Thursday night. About 100 manufacturers and other citizens attended the organization meeting tonight and many enthusiastic talks were made. It is the purpose of the chamber to begin an intensive campaign to boost East Point as a manufacturing and home site and to take an active interest in the civic affairs of south Fulton county.

Half the world is half asleep

Many people are considered lazy when they are really suffering from the world's most universal disease—constipation. It is a disease which robs you of your energy, your interest, your desire to do things. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Poor Betty! She always looks tired"

BETTY was the office mystery. Once pretty, her beauty now lay masked behind an unwholesome complexion. Once vivacious, she now seemed eternally tired—a drooping figure of disappointment and dismay. Too bad she didn't realize that it was constipation which was stealing her strength.

But many men and women have rid themselves forever of this devastating disease, have regained their charm and renewed their old-time vigor and vim. By the simple means of eating two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—or in chronic cases, with every meal.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It is what doctors call a bulk food—a bulk food which sweeps the intestines clean—a bulk food which absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating natural, healthy action. Something habit-forming pills and drugs can never do.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups; or made into the many recipes given on the package. Doctors recommend Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. You will, too, after a few days' trial. You'll become an enthusiast when you feel the surge of vigorous blood in your veins again.

KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN

To be effective, bran fiber must go through the various digestive processes without submitting to any of them. It must pass through the entire alimentary tract without its form being changed.

What happens when a bran food is eaten?

After the saliva has acted upon it, it passes through the stomach and into the intestines, where every part which is not fiber is absorbed.

In ALL-BRAN the quantity of fiber is so great that it furnishes bulk enough to prevent and relieve constipation.

In a part-bran food, the quantity of fiber is so small that there is only a puny amount to do a Herculean task.

ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Demand it.

Warning: Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A part-bran product can only be partially effective.

Kellogg's is the one, only and original ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it. Buy a package today. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price.

Louise Pudding—An easily prepared dessert

Here is an inexpensive pudding that can be prepared in just a few minutes, costs very little, yet is one of the most delicious desserts that you have ever tasted. The recipe that Mrs. S. H. Stanfield, famous Domestic Science Expert, uses in making Louise Pudding is as follows:

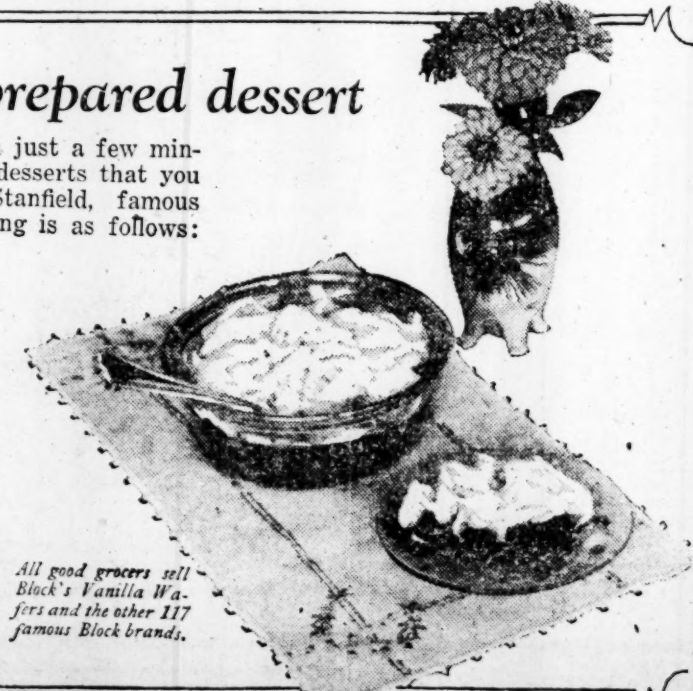

"Put a layer of Block's Vanilla Wafers in the bottom of a bowl. Cover with a layer of sliced bananas. Add another layer of Vanilla Wafers, then a layer of sliced bananas. Then a third layer of Wafers. Cover with a sauce made of 3/4 cup of sugar, two teaspoons lemon juice or vinegar, two tablespoons flour, one-half cup cold water and two tablespoons butter which have been boiled together until creamy."

Why not treat the family to this delicious dessert today? Why not write also to the Frank E. Block Company for free advance proofs of Mrs. Stanfield's other famous recipes being published in this paper every Friday?

Nike, or The Winged Victory

In the Metropolitan Museum of Art at New York, there is a replica of the ancient Greek statue, the "Winged Victory." The original is, we believe, in one of the great museums of Europe. There it stands, as unearthed about a century ago, scarred, headless, armless, and otherwise marred, in cold marble made to live exultantly and triumphantly, the symbol of the onward march of the ancient Greek arms and culture.

We fancy this statue, heroic in size, as it is today is a far more inspiring spectacle than it was when entire and perfect, long, long ago, as phalanx after phalanx of Grecian youth swept past it with flying colors, going in defense of Athens.

It is more inspiring simply because of its scars and wounds. What victory was ever won without toil and toil?—without hurt?

That is why we have placed it at the top of this advertisement. Here is this old store on the landmark at Whitehall and Hunter. It is celebrating its 43rd Anniversary. That is to say, it has fought its way onward and upward for 43 years, not without wounds, glances and bruises, now happily healed.

Today its victory is complete and absolute and final. Everybody knows it. Atlanta from center to circumference is aware of it; the news has winged its way over Georgia and for nearly a week people have been pouring in, buying as they have never bought before!

The people, oh, the people, where do they all come from? No matter. They know! Yesterday definitely settled the question. The BEST values in Atlanta are at High's. And the 43rd anniversary sweeps on exultantly to greater triumphs.

It is victory.

Cartier Explores The St. Lawrence River.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN 1534 A FRENCHMAN NAMED JACQUES CARTIER CAME TO AMERICA TO SEEK A THROUGH PASSAGE TO CHINA. HE LANDING ON CAPE GASPE AT THE MOUTH OF THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER, HE ERECTED A HUGE CROSS AND CLAIMED THE LAND FOR FRANCE.

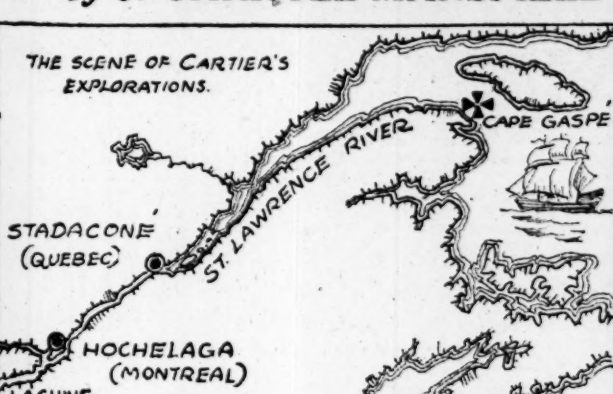

THE FOLLOWING YEAR CARTIER CAILED UP THE ST. LAWRENCE AS FAR AS STADACONE, AN INDIAN VILLAGE AT THE SITE OF QUEBEC. HERE TAKING TO THE SMALL BOATS CARTIER CONTINUED UP THE RIVER.

HE REACHED THE INDIAN VILLAGE OF HOCHELAGA AND CLIMBING THE MOUNTAIN THAT ROSE BACK OF THE TOWN CALLED IT MONTRIAL, THE FRENCH FOR ROYAL MOUNTAIN.

ATTEMPTING TO ASCEND THE RIVER ABOVE MONTRIAL, CARTIER FOUND HIS WAY BLOCKED BY RAPIDS WHICH IN HIS DISAPPOINTMENT HE NAMED LA CHINE ("THE CHINA") RAPIDS.

HAVING FAILED TO FIND A WAY THROUGH THE CONTINENT OF NORTH AMERICA THAT WOULD LEAD TO CHINA, CARTIER GAVE UP THE IDEA AND BEGAN PLANNING TO RETURN AND FOUND A FRENCH COLONY IN THE NEW WORLD.

COBB PLANS TO PAVE BANKHEAD HIGHWAY

Anniston, Ga., October 1.—(Special.) Appointment of a committee to work with Judge John M. Stone, of Marietta, county commissioner of Cobb county, in formulating plans to finance Cobb county's portion of the cost in paving the Bankhead highway from Anniston to the Chattahoochee river climaxed an enthusiastic meeting Thursday afternoon in the Anniston town hall, when several prominent speakers, including John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway department, spoke. More than 250 attended the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting was to formulate plans for financing the project and bring together state, federal and county authorities in an effort to begin work within a short time and give employment to drought-stricken farmers in the southern part of Cobb county.

Included in the committee were: Dr. L. G. Garrett, C. T. Perkerson and W. F. Collar, of Anniston; W. L. Florence and Dr. Frank Lindley, of Powder Springs; and Dr. A. J. Glone, of Mableton. A meeting of the committee will probably be held next Monday to begin preliminary arrangements.

Among the first problems of the committee, according to Mr. Collar, will be a decision of the kind of road which will be accepted by all parties concerned and to ascertain the cost of the construction.

Chairman Holder made the principal address of the afternoon outlining the financial side of the project and telling of the limitations of the state highway department. The department is ready to cooperate in any way in the project, he declared.

Dr. L. G. Garrett, of Anniston, presided. He introduced Attorney Madison Bell, of Atlanta, who in turn introduced the speakers. Judge Stone said that he is ready to cooperate if means for financing the county's part of the cost can be devised.

Others who spoke at the meeting were Stanley Bennett, of the state highway commission; Lindley Camp, of Atlanta; representatives of Cobb county; Dr. Middlebrook, of Powder Springs; Dr. Will Butler, of Powder Springs; and Dr. Garrett and Mr. Collar, of Anniston.

Residents from Paulding county, Dallas, Mableton and Powder Springs and many farmers from the southern part of Cobb county attended the meeting.

Efforts will be made by the committee to formulate definite plans to be laid before the state highway board on October 15, it was announced.

The Constitution's Patterns

A PRACTICAL APRON STYLE.

5265. The back of this design is cut with belt ends that meet at the center front, and hold the fullness of the apron very comfortably.

A COMFORTABLE MORNING DRESS FOR WOMEN OF MATURE FIGURE.

5034. Striped gingham or linen will be good for this model, with facings of contrasting material in a plain color. The sleeve may be in wrist or elbow length.

A PRETTY SCHOOL DRESS FOR MOTHER'S GIRL.

4968. Cretonne or chintz may be used for the dress, and crepe or lace for the guimpe. Or, one may have wool rep or pongee for the dress. It is a simple model—and one that admits of many attractive combinations in materials.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. A 6-year size will require 1 1/2 yard of 32-inch material and the guimpe will require 1 1/2 yard if made with long sleeves. If guimpe is made with short sleeves 1 1/4 yard is required.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter 1925-1926 book of fashions.

GEORGIA TOBACCO BRINGS $7,110,207

Tobacco warehouses in Georgia for the 1925 season sold 49,384,246 pounds of tobacco for a total of $7,110,207.58, at an average price of 14.40 cents a pound, according to the official preliminary, consolidated report, issued Thursday by the Georgia cooperative crop reporting service, Peter V. Rice, statistician for the state department of agriculture.

Of the total pounds sold all were produced in Georgia except 1,504,181 pounds, which were grown in Florida and South Carolina.

The 1925 crop, 70,000 acres, with 12,000 growers, compares with the 1924 crop of 40,000 acres, with 7,000 growers, which brought a total of $6,100,000, or an average price of 20 cents per pound.

The 1925 crop came up to expectations as to yield, as the crop was estimated at 50,000,000 pounds, the difference being in the average price of 29 cents for 1924 and 14.40 cents for 1925. The fall-off in average price for this year being due, agriculturists say, to the number of new and inexperienced growers and to the drought.

YOUTH STRUCK DOWN NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

M. B. Ebelich, 18, of 71 East Fourth street, received bruises and lacerations about the head Thursday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile alleged to have been driven by a negro, Estelle Phillips, of 226 Vine street. The accident occurred in Jones avenue.

The youth was carried to St. Joseph's infirmary, where physicians state his condition is not serious, it was struck as he attempted to cross the street, according to witnesses. Police are searching for the negro.

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

AN EFFERVESCENT BATH.

Just as an effervescent drink is more refreshing when you are tired than a plain one, so is an effervescent bath. But very few people know that fizzy water can be had in any fashion except, expensively, behind a drug store counter. Yet certain European health resorts charge enormous sums for a "cure," the cure consisting of daily bathing in hot, fizzy water.

Here's a bath salt that will make your morning bath bubble and sparkle, and that won't cost you much. It has no special curative properties, it ling will stimulate you wonderfully, and wake you up if you are sleepy. Course sea salt added to the bath water, either hot or cold, is cleansing and refreshing, but not as much so as effervescent salts.

Help—You probably have indigestion that is producing these blind pimples and the other red spots. Fruit acids do sometimes cause a rash when the system has too much acid, but it is not the sort of a rash yours is. Experiment with your diet until you find out what is disagreeing with you.

A. E. C.—There is nothing to change the color of the hair from dark brown to black but a dye.

Tomorrow—Use of Cosmetics.

Edna Kent Forbes is now ready to fill a long-felt need on the part of her readers—that of supplying the most important of her excellent beauty hints in illustrated pamphlet form. To secure this valuable information you must address Miss Forbes in care of this paper, asking for her pamphlet, "Beauty," and enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in stamps.

Greensboro Has Water.

Greensboro, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—The Artesian well here is still supplying an abundance of water, despite the continued drought. Farmers are busy planting grain and clover. In some parts of Greensboro county splendid rains have fallen.

Greensboro Candy Shop.

Greensboro, Ga., October 1.—(Special.)—Greensboro has a candy factory which is being operated in connection with the Rhodes bakery. A fine grade of candy is being manufactured and placed on the market, according to news received in Atlanta.

C. L. Oswald Promoted.

C. L. Oswald, traveling auditor of Famous Players-Lasky corporation for the past two years, has been appointed assistant publicity director, with headquarters in the Famous Players offices in New York city, according to news received in Atlanta.

Building Increases.

Increases in building permits for September over August amounted to more than $100,000, it was announced Thursday at the office of the city buildings inspector. The September permits amounted to $778,423. The largest single item in the September permits was $125,000 for the new Hoke Smith high school.

THE PEARL HEADED PIN

BY ROY VICKERS

Blue Ribbon Fiction

SYNOPSIS.
Henry Ladway and his partner, John Selkirk, are accused of murdering a business rival. Ladway is supposed to have died in a railroad wreck. Selkirk serves twenty years in prison. Upon his release he informs Ladway's wife and her present husband, Colonel Hallett, that neither he nor Ladway was guilty. The Halletts are remodeling their London home, and Mrs. Hallett goes there to meet the contractor, Edward March. Ladway, appearing and threatening her with blackmail. Colonel Hallett arrives and Ladway, trying to escape, falls through an open shaft. The colonel, unable to find the body, holds his throat, mutters the face and throws the body into the river. Ladway, an art collector, is identified by Ray Bristow, a suitor of Mrs. Hallett's daughter, Joan, as the man in a pocket. He then adopts permanently his frequent disguise as Cornboise, an art collector, and drops from sight as March. Ladway's body is taken from the river. It is identified as Ladway, who testifies at the inquest that she had given the pin to March. The confidence of her husband and Joan is further shaken by the news that March Cornboise, with whom Joan plans to open a modiste's shop, calls and Mrs. Hallett recognizes him as March. He reveals that he named her in the will so he might get the money back following his disappearance by blackmailing her. Mrs. Hallett forces him to shelter Selkirk by threatening to call the police. When Joan learns that her mother is mysteriously unable to give March's money to Bristow, as Mrs. Hallett had planned, she begs Ray to refuse it. He does so, but misunderstanding, scorns her, even when she tells him she redeems him as love. Detective Inspector Rason learns that Mrs. Hallett has not told the truth about a number of details, and Mrs. Hallett, in order to avoid further questioning, goes out of town without leaving an address. Cornboise continues to pay attention to Joan.

Cornboise knew for certain that March had not spoken to him. Therefore, Cornboise—it was a little bit hard to follow up on the "therefore." He had the sensation of being on the verge of an immense discovery.

In his bedroom he went over the facts. . . . Therefore, Cornboise must have been on the top floor of the building of March Limited for the whole of that hour or so in which he himself had waited for March to appear. Cornboise must have seen him leave the building, knowing that during that time he had not spoken to March.

It told him something vital about Cornboise—but it told him nothing that could be of the least use to the police.

INSTALLMENT LII.

Mrs. Hallett Is Appealed To.
Already Selkirk had ceased to regard Mrs. Hallett as being driven by nothing else than a desire to save herself. He was prepared to regard Mrs. Hallett as an enemy, if necessary—an enemy of Joan, whom he was determined to protect from the horror of marriage with Cornboise.

He must find Mrs. Hallett. But that alone was to prove a task more difficult than he had imagined. At that moment Mrs. Hallett, in the little old-world Sussex village of Marfax, rose from a settee by the side of an open cottage fireside.

"I'm going to bed, Nannie."

"All right, Missie. The fire's burning brightly. I looked to it five minutes ago. You'll be warm as a toast. And I'm sure I do hope you'll be getting some sleep tonight."

"I expect so, Nannie," said Mrs. Hallett, stooping wearily and kissing the brow of the old woman who had been her nurse, to whom she had flown for security in her trouble, leaving it to be implied that she was suffering from nothing other than a slight nervous breakdown.

In the room above a fire burned cheerily. She blew out the candle that Hannah Roberts had given her, and before undressing sat on the edge of the bed enjoying the play of the firelight on the whitewashed walls and oak ceiling.

Presently she drew a letter from her blouse. It had been sent by messenger to her bankers that morning and reached her late that afternoon. It was from her husband.

"Dear Margaret," she read again. "I do not wish to intrude upon you in any way, nor trouble you with correspondence. I simply ask you to remember that if at any time you should feel inclined to give me any explanation other than that which you have already given, I should be pleased to give it instant and sympathetic attention—George."

She continued to look at the letter until the fading firelight prevented her from any longer seeing his handwriting. Then, almost reverently, she placed it in the fire.

"George, my beloved, there can never be any explanation," she murmured. "I love you too much to explain that I have never loved any one but you. . . . George, I am so tired, tired, tired!"

She undressed and got into bed, lay still and wide-eyed for an hour, heard Hannah go to bed, then took a sleeping draught.

It was easy enough to sleep with the aid of a sleeping draught and to wake dull and unfreshened on the following morning. But that was better than lying awake night after night, and wondering.

On the next morning, unaccountably, she felt in better spirits. She did not know that neuroticism was creeping upon her and that one of the symptoms of overwrought nerves is an occasional fit of unreasoning optimism.

"I did the best thing possible in coming here," she told herself as she took her morning walk over the downs. "I'm not fit to see any one at present—but when I've had a bit of rest—well, there's no knowing—things may turn out to be better than they seem."

She had with the bank manager for the full transfer of the March property to herself. She had paid Cornboise his five thousand. She had taken it for granted that Cornboise would find some means of smuggling Selkirk out of the country. Beyond that she did not—dared not—look. Three days after she had received the letter from her husband came a letter, also through the bank, from Joan.

"Dear Mother: I've asked the bank for your address and, although I was as pleasant as I knew how to be, they wouldn't give it to me. Will you please send it to me? A friend of Mr. Cornboise's particularly wants to see you—Joan."

Mrs. Hallett frowned. For a moment the "friend of Mr. Cornboise" eluded her. Then she realized that Joan must, of course, mean Selkirk.

"Really, Mr. Selkirk has no right to trouble Joan!" ran her thoughts. "My poor darling—what a terrible pity I let you get mixed up with it all. You must be kept out of it."

Mingled with her purely maternal solicitude was the practical thought that it was difficult, if not impossible, to keep Joan out of anything if she had determined to interest herself.

"My darling," she wrote back, "I am so sorry you have been bothered. I would far rather you did not mix yourself up with anybody else's troubles. Surely we have enough of our own! For your own sake, then, darling, I am not going to tell you my address just at present. Don't think me unkind, dearest—Your loving mother."

Mrs. Hallett read the letter through. It seemed inadequate.

"Joan always makes me seem so helpless," she reflected. "And when I'm meaning to be most practical I always sound like the old-fashioned type of mother she despises. O, well, it can't be helped. They're loving and good and clean, these young people, but they're very hard."

She sealed the envelope and enclosed it in another to the bank for forwarding purposes.

Otherwise Joan would see the postmark and come down at once, she told herself. With the honesty that never wholly left her, even when she was tormented by her emotions, she admitted that she did not want to see Joan.

In the girl's eyes the mother's dignity was destroyed, and that made anything approaching a scene extremely harassing. At the back of her mind, too, was the reflection that she who was sacrificing so much for husband and daughter must be allowed to make the sacrifice in her own way.

Two days later came a letter from Selkirk himself.

"Dear Mother: It is of the utmost importance in our joint interests that I should see you without delay. Will you therefore kindly communicate your address under cover to Miss Hallett? Yours faithfully, J. Selkirk."

At this curt, peremptory note, Mrs. Hallett was indignant. For twenty years no one had adopted as peremptory a tone to her. She did not answer the letter.

Three days later she had forgotten it, and on the morning of the fourth day received another letter from Joan.

"Dear Mother: If your address doesn't come by return, our friend intends to go to the police—in the fullest sense of the word. I gather that you will thereby land us in a bigger mess than we've been in yet. Will you please send it?"—Joan."

The letter was brought in to her while she was having breakfast, and her old nurse, watching her with jealous tenderness, realized that something was amiss.

"I do hope you haven't had bad news, Missie?"

"Bad news!" repeated Mrs. Hallett vacantly, and it was some time before she added: "Bad news? O, no! Nothing much, Nurse. But I don't think I want any breakfast. I shall lie down for a little."

When Mrs. Hallett reached her room she was dizzy, and again and again her head was stabbed with neuralgia.

"I must keep cool. I believe my nerves are going. I must keep my nerve," she repeated to herself.

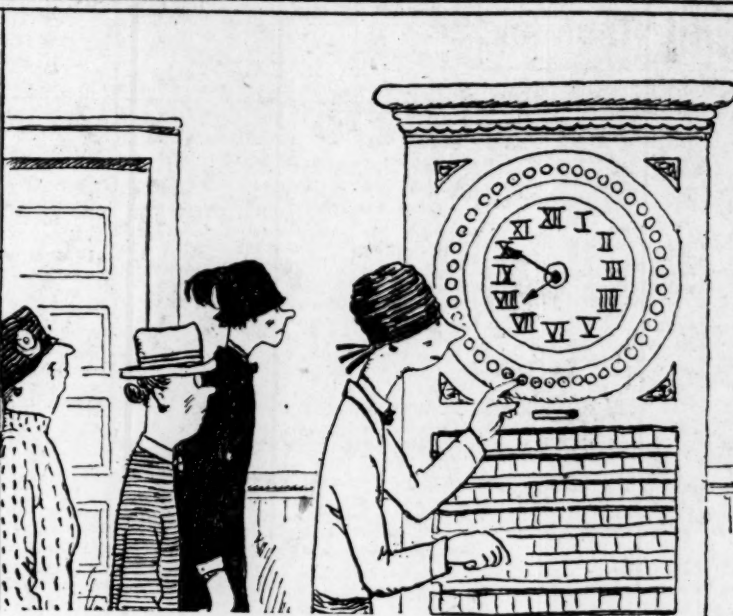

In half an hour she had calmed herself.

"Surely Mr. Cornboise would never let him do that!" she tried to assure herself. She had a blind faith in Cornboise's ability to impose his will upon others. "And if I give my address to Joan, the poor darling with the best intentions—But I must give it her."

New York, October 1.—Rallies followed a further decline in the cotton market today, December contracts selling up from 23.04 to 23.37 and closing at 23.35. The general market closed steady, 20 to 25 points net higher.

The opening was steady, 2 points higher to 3 points lower. Buying on relatively steady Liverpool cables was readily supplied by overnight selling orders, which appeared to be based on increased estimates of the crop. October soon sold off to 22.91 and January to 22.25, net declines of about 12 to 14 points, and new low ground for the movement.

Rumors of a private report pointing to a yield of nearly 15,000,000 bales were not confirmed, and when a private report published the estimated condition at 54 and the indicated crop at 14,710,000 bales, it failed to inspire much additional selling. This probably was taken on some quarters as a signal for covering and the afternoon market became firmer on record-breaking exports reported for the day and unfavorable weather advice from the southwest. Trade buying, as well as covering, was reported on the advance, which carried October up to 23.30 and January to 22.64, or 22 to 25 points net higher, and the close was within a point or two of the best.

A few additional October notices were issued early, but were stopped, presumably by trade interests, and October closed within 8 points of December, compared with a discount of 10 points at the close of the previous day.

Two other private crop reports were issued, one placing the condition at 53.9, and the indicated yield at 13,400,000 bales, based on private average figures, and also estimating the cost of producing this year's crop at 25 cents a pound. The other gave no condition figure, but placed the indicated yield at 14,721,000 bales.

Exports today, 255,781 bales, making 1,234,583 so far this season. Port receipts, 121,562. United States port stocks, 753,971.

RAINS SELLING PRICES
21 TO 25 POINTS HIGHER.

New Orleans, October 1.—The cotton market was active today and prices were two-sided, easing off in the early trading to new low levels for the movement, and rallying sharply in the afternoon. The early decline, which amounted to 12 points, compared with the close of yesterday, was due to further liquidation by longs, the continued heavy movement and a large private crop estimate of 14,710,000 bales. The subsequent rally, which caused the recovery of all the early loss and considerably more, was due to heavy and it is believed, damaging rains in Oklahoma and Texas, and also in the more northerly portions of the central belt, and to the fact that the market was at the top, showing net gains for the day of 21 to 25 points.

At the start the market was steady, opening practically unchanged, although Liverpool cables were rather better than that. Sentiment among private crop estimates of 14,710,000 bales. There was a moderate rise in the price of the day, the general market closed steady, 20 to 25 points net higher.

FENNER & CO.
New York, October 1.—Strength predominated throughout today's session with the main body of stocks showing substantial gains. We continue to advocate the acceptance of profits on strength and suggest withdrawing short selling until some later date.

FENNER & BEANE.
New York, October 1.—The early trading of the market was characterized by an absence of substantial offerings of any particular group of stocks while in many cases buying was of such volume as to carry prices up sharply. The action of the Bank of England in reducing the discount rate from 4 1/2 per cent to 4 per cent encouraged bullish sentiment, and was looked upon as a virtual assurance that no early increase in the bank rate was in prospect. This fact was reflected in a strong tone in such issues as steel, American Iron Works, and also United States Rubber.

LIVINGSTON & CO.
New York, October 1.—Bullish tendencies in a few stocks increased during the morning trading. Rubber stocks in particular were under consideration during the day. In the lead at a new high for the move at 69 1/2. Big manipulation continued in the market, with the price of rubber stock rising to 69 1/2. For a time, the price seemed to be holding, but it was not long before it fell to 69 1/2. The market was then a fair one, with a few stocks showing a slight advance. C. F. ELLIS & CO.
New Orleans, October 1.—The market was under further pressure in the session, due to a prominent New York commission house estimating the condition of the crop as of September 25, 24, indicating a yield of 14,710,000 bales, exclusive of lint. There were other private estimates, however, that placed the indicated yield at much smaller figures, ranging from 12,000,000 to 13,000,000. A feature of the market was the prospect for unfavorable weather in the interior, with the possibility of the rains becoming general, as advised were received during the day of numerous rains in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana, which would be detrimental to open cotton of which there is so much, especially in the northern half of the belt.

CHICAGO COTTON.
Chicago, October 1.—Cotton closed 10 to 21 points up higher today on the board of trade. The market opened unchanged to 2 points higher on favorable cables, and in line with the opening in other American exchanges. Heavy rains were reported along the west coast. Trading was slow and prices sagged in the morning, but the market was firm on a late rally with prices at the top for the day. The close: October 1, 1925: 22.80; December 22, 22.90; May 22.70.

GRAIN LETTERS.
FENNER & BEANE.
Chicago, October 1.—WHEAT: Although our prices have declined severely from those prevailing early in the crop year foreign buyers remain uninterested. It is not possible to discover any importing countries are as yet ready to take hold freely. The export outlet is the essence of the market and upon it will depend the trend of prices.

MISDEMEANOR CASES WILL BE TRANSFERRED
Declaring that it costs taxpayers of Fulton county a dollar a minute to operate superior courts, Judge John D. Humphries Thursday announced that in future all misdemeanors brought to his court will be transferred to the criminal court of Atlanta.

Judge Jesse Wood, of the criminal court of Atlanta, is quite able to handle these cases, and I am going to see that this court is not clogged by a large number of small cases, Judge Humphries said.
